

Vermont Governor Blocks Suffrage

Governor Clement Refuses to Call Special Legislative Session to Ratify Suffrage

PROCLAMATION ISSUED TODAY

Chief Executive Says Amendment Invades Constitution of State

Action Follows Conference With Senator Harding at Washington

RUTLAND, Vt., July 12.—Governor Percival W. Clement today issued a proclamation refusing to call the legislature in special session to make possible ratification of the federal amendment for woman suffrage.

The governor's proclamation follows a conference which he held at Washington recently with Senator Harding, at which it is understood the republican nominee for president discussed with him the possibility of having ratification completed by the republican legislature of Vermont.

In giving his reasons for refusing again to call a special session Governor Clement said the proposed amendment clearly invades the constitution of Vermont; that the present legislature was elected before the question of ratifying the federal amendment had arisen, and that the people of the state have had no opportunity to express themselves on the issue. The governor proposed that the matter be taken up by the next legislature, and urged that candidates for election be required to declare themselves on the matter.

Governor Clement in his proclamation declared that the federal constitution "as it stands and is interpreted by the supreme court today threatens the foundation of free popular government." The proclamation said in part:

"The provisions for changes in the

COAL QUESTION CAUSES DELAY

Allied-German Conference Fails to Reach Necessary Agreement

Reparation Plan in General Also Not Acceptable, it is Said

SPA, Belgium, July 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Prolongation of the Allied-German conference here for another day or two, possibly longer, seemed probable today because of the inability of the conference so far to reach an agreement over the question of coal deliveries by the Germans and the reparation plan in general.

"I am not returning to Paris for the national fête of July 14," said Premier Millerand after this morning's meeting held by the premiers without the presence of the German delegates. "I am going to stay and fight this thing out."

The Allied premiers, following this meeting, countermanded the special trains they had ordered for this evening and tomorrow and it appeared that the conference would likely continue until Thursday at least.

The morning meeting of the premiers took the place of what had been expected to be in full session of the conference. The Germans were at first informed that the full meeting had been postponed until afternoon but later the allied ministers decided to invite Chancellor Fehrenbach and Foreign Minister Simons to meet them.

AGREEMENT FOR PEACE

Negotiations Between Lithuania and Soviets Bearing Fruit

Former's Rights to Vilna, Koono and Grodno Recognized in Pact

MOSCOW, July 10 (By the Associated Press)—Lithuania and the soviet government of Russia have reached an agreement relative to the establishment of peace said Adolf Joz, representative of the soviet government, in the negotiations, today. He said this agreement included an understanding as to boundaries and indemnity and that Russia recognized Lithuania's rights to Vilna, Koono and Grodno, as well as parts of the provinces of Grodno which are ethnographically Lithuanian.

"This mutual understanding," he said, "was accelerated by the reverses."

FUEL SITUATION VERY SERIOUS

City's Coal Will Cost $7 to $8 a Ton More Than Last Year

Commissioner Salmon and Purchasing Agent to Interview Fuel Commissioner

What is perhaps the most serious fuel situation that the city of Lowell has ever faced is now before the municipal authorities, who are confronted with the proposition of paying from $7 to $8 a ton more for coal for use during the coming fall and winter than was paid last year and of having difficulty in getting coal even at that price.

Some time between now and early fall Purchasing Agent Edward H. Foye must secure between 4000 and 5000 tons of soft coal to give the city's various departments their normal allotment for the winter. Months ago he called for bids from local dealers but not one of them would name him a price or give him any assurance of delivery, so uncertain was the market and so hazardous the possibilities of transportation.

Week after week has passed with no apparent relief in sight. Mr. Foye, of course, has been loath to order coal at $17 and $18 per ton and then a few weeks later that the market has dropped and the city is paying far more than private firms. That has been the big reason for his holding off.

But now with the fall rapidly approaching and the city's coal pockets practically naked, it has become a question of getting coal at any price. The purchasing agent has studied the question from every angle and believes that the welfare of the city calls for immediate action if public utilities and municipal buildings are to be kept in operation next winter. There comes from no quarter any indication that the price of coal will drop; on the other hand, there are abundant reasons to believe that it will continue to increase.

On Saturday Mr. Foye succeeded in getting a carload of 30 tons at $13 per ton; today another car of 50 tons came in and the purchasing agent at once said he would take it even though he didn't know just what the price would be. But these cars, of course, are a mere drop in the bucket.

The water department presents, perhaps, the most serious problem. The maintenance of the city's water supply depends wholly on fuel and at the present time the department is going on a hand-to-mouth basis. So serious has the proposition become that Mr. Foye and Commissioner John F. Salmon have determined to visit James J. Storrow, fuel commissioner for Massachusetts, and officials of the interstate commerce commission in Boston tomorrow and see what can be done to get coal for the department.

If all other methods fail and it comes to a showdown the fuel commissioner can raise coal to keep the department running. Then comes the equally serious question of supplying the school department and Mr. Foye admits that he is deeply worried about the matter.

"It would be most unfortunate if our schools should have to close because of lack of fuel," Mr. Foye said this morning. "But if we are to supply them with coal we must pay the price. I have held off and held off thinking that the price might come down and, naturally, I didn't wish to involve the city in a large contract at a price which a few months hence might seem exorbitant. But from my study of the situation and from the information given me by coal men in the daily touch with the market it now appears that the only way to meet the crisis is to order coal anywhere and in any amounts and pay the price. For every car of coal that is coming into the state there are 100 people trying to get it. We've got to pay what is being asked although it seems outrageous. Otherwise, the city faces the unpleasant prospect of having no fuel to maintain its schools and utilities next winter. There's the situation in a nutshell."

DISTURBANCE IN LOCAL CHURCH

Parties Who Participated in Church Row Are Arraigned in Court

Autoist Fined and Sentenced—Man Fined $100 for Carrying Pistol

George Saba, charged with assault and battery on an unknown person and with disturbing the peace, Salim Hussein and Salim Mansour, charged with disturbing the peace and Alice Asseley, all of whom took part in a fracas at St. George's Syrian Orthodox church yesterday afternoon, answered to the call of Clerk Trull in police court this morning and were granted continuance for trial until July 21.

A meeting in connection with the dedication of the church was held yesterday afternoon and the directors of the occasion had hired two police officers for duty. Whether they had suspected trouble or not is not known. It is generally said that there are two factions connected with the church which are very active and hostile toward one another. The trouble yesterday started on the church steps but rapidly worked its way into the church where a free-for-all was started in many quarters. During the turmoil the Orthodox priests were unable to soothe the crowd and received considerable man-handling.

Officer Sayers, on duty at the church, attempted several times, before he succeeded, in working his way to the police box to send in a call for help. Officer Castles was despatched.

ULSTER QUIET TODAY AFTER OUTBREAKS

RELFAST, July 12.—Last night passed quietly in Ulster and as the great Orangemen's day parade was formed in this city this morning, there was no evidence the day would be marked by anything out of the ordinary for a celebration of July 12. Telephone messages from Londonderry and other points reported everything quiet, and it was stated they were expected to remain so.

Troops in the regular garrison here have been confined to the barracks until Tuesday morning, but military officers have taken every precaution.

SLAIN MAN NOT MALONEY'S BROTHER

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 12.—Patrick Maloney of Arctic Centre said this morning to the Tribune that a photograph of the slain man who was a victim of Lieut. Carl Wanderer, arrived here this morning and that he felt certain that it was not his brother, John J. Maloney. The picture was sent by the Chicago police to Mrs. John Kain of River Point, a sister of Mr. Maloney. Both brother and sister felt positive that the slain man was not their brother.

THE HARVARD COMPANY

Local Concern Winding up Its Business Affairs—Committee Busy

The affairs of the Harvard Co. of this city, formerly the Harvard Brewing Co., are rapidly being cleaned up by a committee of stockholders appointed at a recent meeting to look after details connected with the dissolution of the company, but even with the most rapid handling of the firm's interests, it will probably be several months before actual dissolution takes place.

The committee of five appointed to get the company's assets in shape for dissolution includes two Lowell members, Richard C. Hemman, secretary and treasurer of the company, and Charles L. Marren, one of the stockholders. One of the big steps in the disposal of the company's holdings was taken last week when the horses and equipment were converted into cash at public auction.

There is yet a mass of details to be straightened out before final dissolution will be possible. The regular bookkeeping staff of the company has been retained to take an inventory of stock and equipment, various contracts for bottles and supplies have to be settled, the large plant of the company in this city and another plant in New York must be disposed of and sundry other matters looked after. The committee appointed to do this work is meeting frequently and as offers for various parts of the company's equipment come in they are considered and, if satisfactory, are accepted.

The committee, of course, is anxious to do its work as soon as possible because the longer it takes the greater overhead expenses will have to be paid.

A RECENT PORTRAIT

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)

THE STRAND

Would you have been a better man or woman if you had remained in your home town? The men and women in "Sinners," Alice Brady's new picture, that is being shown at The Strand the first three days of this week, were not any better morally for having left the home environment, but neither was the young man who hung around the parental hearthstone. What would justify a girl of good morals in accepting a position in the household of a woman of questionable character? This and other interesting problems of the day are interesting phases of "Sinners."

Frank Mayo in "The Girl in Number 22" is the other contribution, and this too, is exceptionally good as a picture story. The war is seen in one of his best roles. The comedy and weekly, as well as musical numbers by Miss Robbins, are also commendable.

LAKEVIEW PARK

Lakeview park is really the park of convenience, as a Boston man called it the other day. He found he could stay there a week, if he wanted to, and have a quiet or a gay time, as he wished. Its convenience for Lowell people especially struck him. "You people in Lowell don't have to take a day off to have a good time," he said. "In two hours you can have a cool ride, bowl a string of two, cool off with a soft drink and ride back home."

Most strangers talk about the music, however. Miner-Doyle's playing and singing both Harry Leavitt adding a little banjo lark where it fits best, and Barney Moran's solos make an ideal combination.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Charles Ray steps to delect in his latest photoplay, "Homer Comes Home," being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday, but of course, it's all in a good cause. According to the story, Charlie is a small town dreamer of dreams who goes to the city and becomes a clerk in a large establishment. Returning to his native village on his vacation, he is enabled by a mixture of city-made clothes and bluff to put over a big scheme that makes him a fortune and wins him the girl of his heart. Billie Burke in "Away Goes Prudence," the International News, and a comedy round out the bill.

NO Y. M. C. A. SUMMER SCHOOL THIS YEAR

A summer school will not be conducted by the Lowell Y.M.C.A. this year, but it is hoped that it may be possible to open one next season. The educational program of the association for the fall will be considered at a meeting tonight in the office of General Secretary Howe of the organization's educational committee. A. F. French is chairman of this committee and the other members are C. R. Redway, C. T. Upton and H. J. Hall. It is possible that a number of innovations may be introduced into the association's curriculum in the fall, but the nature of these is not being disclosed until after they have been considered by the committee.

Saturday came very near establishing a new record for the number of users of the association's bathing facilities—both showers and swimming pool. Over 200 persons made use of the bathing quarters. This number includes only adults. About 75 boys also used the baths. A system that has been introduced this month makes it possible for the first time to keep an accurate record of the number of users of the baths.

General Secretary Howe announces that he is on the lookout for a man of suitable qualifications to take charge of the Y.M.C.A. building Sundays. He says that he wants a man of mature years to whom complete supervision of the building can be turned over not only during the summer, but throughout the year.

WANDERER LOSES HOLD ON SELF MOMENTARILY

CHICAGO, July 12.—A theory that Carl Wanderer shot and killed his wife and a hired "robber" because of his interest in a 15-year-old girl was being investigated today by the police. Confronted with the girl in his cell, Wanderer for the first time since his arrest lost composure momentarily, but firmly denied the girl had had any influence on his desire to be free. In one of his statements to the police, Wanderer had said he shot his wife and the baby they expected next month.

The girl, Julia Schmitt, told the police she had known Wanderer some time and had gone to an amusement park with him several times, but did not know he was married. She was not held, as police announced after questioning that they were convinced she had no knowledge of the murder plot which was carried out in the lobby of Wanderer's apartment, June 21.

According to one of the latest of Wanderer's statements to the police, the $1500 which his wife drew from the bank two days before she was shot, was his own money. He had stated once before that he intended to steal the money and return to the army but in the excitement following the shooting forgot about it.

Wanderer today maintained his calm attitude in regard to the murders and talked of his dead wife without emotion.

The identification of the hired "robber" as John J. Maloney of River Point, R. I., was further supported today by John Welland, clerk at a hotel where Maloney has stayed three days before he was slain, and had registered under that name.

MUCH MONEY SPENT ON YACHTING CUP

A yacht is known as "she," I used to wonder why. But now I know its "cause." The upkeep is so high.

The speedier they are, The handsomer their rig; With boats as with the girls— They make a fellow dig.

The silver cup, representing the yachting championship, is some valuable bunch of silver, when one figures the amount of money that has been spent to keep it in this country and in efforts to transfer it to England. The America sailed over the sea back in 1851 and won the cup. Since then the British have been trying to get it back and have spent fortunes in building challengers. And plenty of coin had to be invested in yachts fast enough to keep the Britons from lifting the trophy.

Cambridge tried and failed in 1870. In 1876 the $35,000 Countess of Dufferin tried. It cost $42,000 to race the Mayflower in '85. The Volunteer and This-tle, the 1897 contestants cost $50,000 each.

Money really began to be spent when Lord Darnley got into the game. He was in 1891 and four defenders were built that year. The Vigilant was chosen and it cost $150,000 to race her. The American defense cost a quarter of a million.

The Defender cost $200,000 in 1895. Sir Thomas Lipton spent $50,000 in his first attempt to lift the cup. The second Shamrock cost him nearly half a million. Constitution, which sailed in the cup's defense, cost half that sum. Sir Thomas built the third Shamrock in 1902 and raced against Reliance and the whole bill was more than a million.

In 1913 it was decided to use yachts 75 feet on the water line for the cup. The cost of racing has gone beyond reason. Resolute cost $120,000 to build. Sir Thomas will put up a million for his share of this month's races. The New York Yacht club will underwrite a big bill for the trial spins, the picked crews and the ocean-going tugs required to pull off the contests.

Therefore, it's easy to imagine that this silver cup represents a king's ransom. Think what it would be worth, set on the dining table in the New York club and filled with 12-year-old bourbon. Oh, boy!

The length of the Missouri-Mississippi river is 2200 miles.

AIRPLANES WILL KEEP YACHT COURSE OPEN

NEW YORK, July 12.—The American cup races of Sandy Hook this month promise to solve the question of why are New York's "sky cops"?

Ever since the police department's aviation division was formed, hundreds have been directed to the coast, but which never will be performed by the bluecoated aviators. Now, however, with giant sloops resuming their racing after a partial interruption, the "sky cop" find a task at hand—that of keeping the course free from aircraft.

During the trials between Shamrock IV and the 23-meter Shamrock, which have been held almost daily off the Jersey shore, airplanes have been in the wake of the yachts like gulls. Judging from the interest taken in the trials by aeronauts, yachtsmen fear that the sky will be dark with planes on the days of the race.

It is almost certain that seaplanes and landplanes within flying distance of New York—and this is no mean distance—will buzz Hookwards, even when Shamrock IV meets Resolute. Even a dirigible may then make a dash over the course. With development of aircraft during the war, yacht chasing proved to stick its nose over the horizon. Indeed, planes are digging into the business of tugs and launches which have always transported a great part of New York's population to the waters on the days of the race. Owners of private planes are booking passengers at rates which make even the tugmen look aghast.

Truth to tell, yachtsmen are becoming just a little worried. It is not that they fear so much it will crash down on the deck of racing craft as that they may cluster in such groups as to play pranks with the air and rob yachtsmen of their peace of mind. Wind-chasing airplanes of an experience acquired through years.

And it is right here that the "sky cops" may have their duty to perform. Direction of traffic at several thousand feet promises this year to be an interesting sidelight of the big show.

REFUSE COMPENSATION FOR REIMERT'S DEATH

PEKING, June 27.—An unofficial tender of $45,000, reported to have been made by the Chinese government as compensation for the murder of Rev. W. A. Reimert, American missionary of the Yochow Reformed church, by retreating government troops, has been refused by the American legation. The legation informed the Chinese foreign office that a money settlement was not sufficient and insisted that the government hold General Chang Ching-to, military governor of the province of Hunan, personally responsible for failure to provide protection.

The Chinese government after charging Governor Chang of Hunan with an official omission of incompetence and failing properly to discharge his duties and suffering from titles and military honors, following the loss of Changsha to revolutionary troops, pardoned him by presidential mandate. The pardon cited that he was to be given a chance to render better service in the future.

Rev. W. T. Reimert was killed by Chinese northern government troops during the sacking of the Yochow Reformed church mission, June 16, in their retreat from Changsha, which was occupied June 16 by troops of the southern Chinese government. Strong representations were made by the American legation to the Chinese northern government at Peking.

Agreement for Peace

suffered by the Polish forces. The Lithuanians are assured of protection against aggression and have modified their original demands. Russia will not interfere in boundary disputes involving the Polish, Latvian or German frontiers.

"An early settlement of the negotiations pending between the soviet government and Latvia is presented by the fact that the Latvian ministry does not have the support of a majority in parliament, but we have agreed with the Latvian request that conversations be continued at Riga from which city the delegates will return to Moscow for final deliberations and the signing of the treaty."

Asked regarding rumors concerning a possible Polish peace offer, M. Joffe replied that present indications were that a satisfactory peace could be signed only in Warsaw.

"While socialists desire peace," he continued, "it is hardly possible their terms at the present stage of the war would be acceptable. Polish socialists have always stood for the historical boundaries of that country based on the status of 1772, while the national democrats have favored a less imperialistic policy. Russia does not desire annexation of Polish territory but at the same time admits of no historical or strategic pretensions in negotiations with neighboring states. An essential condition to any peace must be the territorial integrity of white Russia, which occupies the same position as Ukraine and will be accorded the right of autonomy if it is demanded by a majority of the population. Identical conditions apply to the Ruthenians."

Immense difficulties have been encountered in boundary negotiations with border states because there have been few reliable statistics on the ethnographic question. M. Joffe declared. No Russian figures later than 1897 have been available. In debatable regions the only equitable method of reaching a decision would be an uninfluenced plebiscite, he said, but while maintaining the principle of self-determination, Russia has been willing to admit in many instances economic exigencies. An instance of this was the award of an important railroad to Latvia during negotiations with that country.

ALLIES NOT IMPRESSED WITH BERLIN'S PLANS

SPA, Belgium, July 12. (By Associated Press)—The German-allied conference was temporarily halted this morning by the coal question. The allied premiers' meeting which convened at 10.30 o'clock to discuss the German reparations proposition and the question of priority in coal deliveries from Germany, were unable to finish their work in time for the general conference to sit at 1.30 o'clock, the hour previously fixed.

The allied ministers, it appears, are not very favorably impressed by the German reparations plans. The prevailing view, the correspondent was informed, was that the plan was somewhat indefinite on the essential financial points.

It is understood that the German delegates have in reserve another plan, or amendment, of much greater importance than the plan submitted yesterday. The plan now before the conference is considered a substitute for this original plan which the Germans are withholding, being unwilling to disclose the original proposition because they were not given satisfaction on the coal question.

It seems even possible that the trouble over the coal question may result in the prolongation of the conference. The feeling in French circles is said to be that from the standpoint of France, the conference up to the present time has been without fruitful result.

Premier Lloyd George, who was slightly indisposed yesterday, was present at today's meeting of the premiers.

NOT OUT ON STRIKE

The call from the Billerica Centre deny being out on strike. They claim they gave the chief of the department 30 days' notice that they would quit the department if their demand for an increase in wages was not granted. The men say that when they presented their petition to the selectmen a few weeks ago the original copy of their demand contained a paragraph to the effect that if they were not granted the increase they would leave the department in 30 days, but Chief Bartlett advised them to cut that part of the petition and they did.

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS TO ADDRESS COMMUNITY SERVICE CLUB THIS EVENING

At a meeting of the American Legion tonight at the Community Service club on Dutton street, Congressman John Jacob Rogers will deliver an address in which he will explain his reasons for voting in the house of representatives to postpone consideration of soldiers' bonus legislation until after the close of the presidential campaign. The subject of his address will be "Veterans' Legislation, Past and Present." It is expected that members of the legion from all parts of Middlesex county will be present. The meeting will be open only to legion men, who must present their membership cards to secure admission.

Plans are being pushed forward for an outing and field day of the legion at Thompson's grove, Wilmington, July 31. Assurances have been obtained that Congressmen Rogers and Gallivan will be in attendance. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge has expressed his regret at not being able to attend. In a letter stating that he is now having his first vacation in 20 years. Senator Walsh has been invited and may attend.

OPERATES ON HUMAN BRAIN

Johns Hopkins Doctor Solves
the Most Baffling of Problems

Has Restored Speech of Dumb Man by Removal of Tumor

BY GEORGE B. WATERS,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent.
BALTIMORE, Md., July 12.—Dr.
Walter E. Dandy, young surgeon of Johns Hopkins hospital, has planted the flag of American achievement in the center of the human brain.

The brain, center of human activity and the most delicate and sensitive organ of the body, has presented science with the most baffling problems in the past. Ordinary brain operations have been made simple but to reach the very center of the mass, the third ventricle, without killing the patient, was impossible until Dr. Dandy, after three years' experiment on lower animals—monkeys mostly—found the way.

What does it mean?

Removal of Cure

It means that epileptics can be cured and that many an insane man can be brought back from the asylum.

News of the Churches

St. Patrick's

Members of the Immaculate Conception sodality of St. Patrick's church received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass yesterday. Rev. Joseph A. Curtin was the celebrant. The other masses were largely attended.

Sacred Heart

At the 7:30 o'clock mass at the Sacred Heart church yesterday members of the Holy Name society received communion in a body. Rev. J. M. Mc-Rory, O.M.I., was the celebrant, and Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., the pastor, assisted in giving communion. After the mass, breakfast was served in the school hall and an informal program of speechmaking and entertainment carried out. Arrangements have been completed for the annual parish lawn party to be held next Saturday on the school grounds.

Immaculate Conception

Rev. William W. Noonan, O.M.I., celebrated the late mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday, and Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O.M.I., the pastor, made the announcements. At the 8 o'clock mass members of the Y.
M.C.F. received communion in a body and later enjoyed a communion break-

It means that paralytics can be given the use of their bodies.

These ill effects are the cause of brain tumors or "spits." Dr. Dandy lays open the way for their removal or cure.

He has successfully operated upon the brains of men and recently removed a tumor from the third ventricle which restored the speech of a dumb man.

The operation is made in three stages, so that the patient will not be killed by the sudden shock of laying bare the twists and turns of his "gray matter."

Skull is Opened

First the skull must be opened.
The bone is bored through with "tre-panning" instruments and then the "water" in which the brain rests, is withdrawn to release the pressure that might damage the brain. It is a delicate job to lie or "ligate" the blood vessels to prevent hemorrhage, or undue bleeding.

The second stage finds the surgeon's knife through the "corpus callosum" or "large body" which connects the two parts of the brain. That in itself is a difficult task.

The third and final operation is the exposing of the third ventricle and the removal of the obstructing tumor.

Holes Bored in Skull

The great obstacle to the operation in the past was the treatment of the brain, accustomed to rest in its fluid, when that fluid was withdrawn. The slightest damage resulted in paralysis or death of the patient.

Dr. Dandy solved the problem by fast in the institute hall in Stackpole street.

St. Peter's

Members of the Holy Name society received communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass at St. Peter's church yesterday.
The pastor, Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph.
D., was the celebrant, and Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan assisted in giving communion. Rev. Peter T. Linehan celebrated the late mass.

St. Michael's

Rev. John J. Shaw, the pastor, celebrated the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church yesterday at which members of the Holy Name society received communion in a body. Rev. Fr.
Finn assisted in giving communion.
Rev. James F. Lynch celebrated the late mass.

St. Margaret's

The usual schedule of services was carried out at St. Margaret's church yesterday with the summer program in effect.

TODAY IN HISTORY SLIGHTLY JAZZED

Add a century to 1920 and you have the birthday today of Julius Caesar, the first war correspondent, born July 12, 100 B.C. He was not the first man to go to war and to come home to write about it, but he has caused more trouble for schoolboys than any other ancient or modern military expert. What a time Caesar could have had in the great war as he filed his stories about battles in which more men were killed than he ever saw together in his whole life.

However, Caesar was a great soldier, too, which is more than can be said about the thousands who have taken and are taking the late rumpus in Flanders and Ireland as their text.
Caesar was all right until he quit the army for politics. From then on his career and that of the late Senator Garranza were virtually identical.

HOW TO ADD STRENGTH, BE HEALTHY

More Happiness and a Longer Life Through Use of Bitro-Phosphate Health System

NEW YORK. Say unto yourself that from this very day you will steadily and permanently improve your health, that you will have calm nerves and a
"no worry" disposition.

Begin now to use Bitro-Phosphate.
Easy to assimilate, has a valuable therapeutic action upon the whole body, including even the bones; and with health aids supplied in the package, the benefit is often reputed as next to miraculous.

Improve your blood, your tissues, your organs. Become stronger, let natural energy of the true kind replace your weakness and lack of either will power or muscular capability.

Take a back seat no longer. Don't be a back number. Awaken right now to the grand possibilities and realize that you can show greater strength, be happier and live longer if you only adopt the simple, true method. Take a brief treatment of the delightfully efficient Bitro-Phosphate health system. Let the scales, the tape measure, your improving appearance, your calm forcefulness and your accomplishment show themselves from day to day.

In cases where persons were "all run down" they have reported considerable weight increase. In cases of nervousness, great irritability, inability to concentrate or to remember, and in numerous other troubles of the nerve or mind, where the phosphoric element was essential, the Bitro-Phosphate treatment has accomplished marvelous benefit, according to the reports of enthusiastically cheerful users.

Bitro-Phosphate is not a patent medicine. It is sold under a $300 guarantee. It is recommended by leading physicians. You may obtain a booklet giving further information by writing to Arrow Chemical Co., 31 Union St.,

MIDDLESEX COUNTY BUREAU OF AGRICULTURE AND HOME EC- ONOMICS—HOT WEATHER

Hot, rather dry weather has been with us for a few days. One of the first results to be seen from this type of weather in home gardens is the tendency for gardeners to go to using the water hose. Keeping the surface soil loosened up in good shape does more good than half an hour's sprinkling with the hose. If one's garden really needs water, soak it thoroughly as suggested in a previous story. The whole garden should be given a thorough cultivation at least once a week, better twice a week during this time of the year. One need not cultivate deeply but just enough to keep an inch or two of the surface soil loosened up. Such a practice conserves soil moisture and is the best method known of improving seed growth.

Destroy Frogs

All growers are reporting an unusual amount of damage from plant lice. It is during the hot weather that they increase most rapidly. Some gardeners report that practically every kind of vegetable in the garden is infested. As soon as the aphids put in their appearance, they should be sprayed. A good, hard, soaking rain probably will kill a big percentage of the lice. On the other hand if they go without this type of natural killing, aphids will have opportunity of doing a tremendous lot of damage.
One cannot depend upon the weather.
Therefore must spray using "Black Leaf 40" and soap.

Heat Saps Power; Store up Energy

Keep digestion perfect with Dr.
Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and you will have strength to work

SUMMER is the season of vacations, of slowing up in work.
And there is a good reason for it. Heat is enervating and work quickly tires.
But people must work, and we should all keep ourselves in such fine physical condition that we can do our share even in hot weather.

Of first importance is to see that there is a regular, daily bowel elimination. If you skip a day you are constipated.
Constipation, especially in summer, is quickly followed by fatigue, loss of appetite, chills and colds. There is no energy for work.

When you feel constipated and out of work, more tired than you know the circumstances warrant, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This delicious laxative- tonic is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin and can be bought at any drug store.

Syrup Pepsin will quickly relieve your constipation and give you a feeling of lightness and clear head.

FREE Millions of people of all ages suffer from occasional or chronic constipation. Let them send name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 512 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., for a free sample bottle of his wonderful Syrup Pepsin.
8 million bottles were bought as drug stores last year, the largest sale in the world.

Mr. Walter of 445 Mission St., San Francisco, had to quit work because of constipation, colds and a train of other ills.
He took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and promptly recovered his health and strength and is now at work again.

You will make no mistake getting yourself a bottle of Syrup Pepsin and taking a little at the first sign of constipation.

liquid appears, cold water should be added to stop the slaking. As soon as the slaking is over, sufficient water is added to bring the total mixture up to six gallons. The mixture is now ready to apply to rose bushes, grape vines or any vegetable or fruit that the rose bug is troublesome on.

Charles Stephens Loses Life in Ride Over Niagara Falls in Barrel

NIAGARA FALLS, July 12.—Charles Stephens of Bristol, Eng., lost his life yesterday morning by going over the Horseshoe or Canadian falls of Niagara, in a barrel, in an effort to emulate the previously successful feat of Anne Edson Taylor and "Bobby" Leach.

Stephens reached the Canadian side of the river a few days ago and began to study the falls and river locality with a view of determining the possibilities of making a successful trip. He viewed the river above and below the falls, and to many expressed the view that the barrel he had brought along with him would carry him safely through the upper rapids and over the big dip of the Horseshoe.

Yesterday morning about 8 o'clock he and his party gathered on the Canadian side of the upper river about midway up the shore opposite Navy island. He crept into the barrel, which was equipped with apparatus to give him an air supply for about eight hours. The harness was put over his head and he took the mouthpiece in his mouth before friends bade him farewell.

He was confident, and he showed little or no fear. Others had made the trip, why not he?

The motor launch towed him and his barrel to midstream and then down stream as far as it was safe to go. There the final fastenings were made over the manhole, and a rap on the outside of the barrel was the signal that told Stephens he was adrift on the bosom of the Niagara, only a few hundred feet from the precipice over which only two had gone and lived to tell the tale.

Through the rapids and over the reefs the barrel plunged swiftly, rolling two or three times quite differently from the way the barrels did in which Mrs. Taylor and "Bobby" Leach made their voyages. To those who understood the river and had witnessed other trips, these facts were significant and there were those by the side of the river who felt Stephens was going to eternally by the water route.

Down, down, down, the swift current carried the barrel, people on shore stood transfixed at the sight of the strange craft with its human freight.

Twenty-six minutes elapsed and the barrel passed through the rapids, and floated through the more quiet water to the horseshoe. A second more and it dropped out of sight and then the scene of the tragedy was transferred from the upper to the lower river.

Anxious friends on shore, on both banks, watched for the barrel to emerge from the foot of the falls, as had the Taylor and Leach barrels years ago. They looked and watched in vain.

The tumultuous currents of the boiling waters at the base of the waterfall delivered the barrel in pieces to the bosom of the lower river and later, boats further down the stream picked up some of these pieces and carried them ashore to be kept as souvenirs of Stephens' mistaken faith in his ability to conquer Niagara.

Friends on the river banks found it hard to believe and realize that Stephens had failed in his effort, and they searched until darkness to find some trace of the man who had journeyed across the Atlantic to die in the torrent of Niagara.

River men were patrolling the Niagara gorge below the falls today in the hope of recovering Stephens' body. Pieces of the barrel in which Stephens went to death continued to float ashore in the eddy on the Canadian side above the Maid of the Mist landing until nearly midnight, but Stephens' body failed to appear and experienced river men said it might be several days before it was released from the cross currents at the foot of the falls.

The staves of the barrel bobbed up through the spume one by one and were picked up as they floated toward the shore. The head, with its scaling device, was practically intact. It was impossible to tell which part of the cask gave way first under the force of the 135 foot drop and the pounding of the water, but Bobby Leach, whose experiences gave him opinion some weight, declared it was too light in all parts.

Lowell this year has seven playgrounds and 23 young women are teaching the children how to make use of them. Friends of the children think that that is a good beginning to make in the way of providing the youngsters with summer-time enjoyment and keeping them off the street, but they hope that it is only a beginning. They say that the city of Holyoke, for instance, is paying out $15,000 this year for supervised play and Lowell is spending only $3000. One big mill in Manchester, N. H., they point out, has equipment on its playgrounds representing an investment of $15,000. Similar equipment in Lowell represents an expenditure of $2500.

This week Miss Louise French, who is employed for the purpose by the Community service, will get her work well underway of systematizing play at the different centres. Miss French probably knows at least as much about play as any young woman now living. She gave up teaching physical culture in New York schools to supervise play in a number of big western cities. During the war she supervised recreation among munition workers in France. One of the things she is to introduce in Lowell is systematized folk dancing. Miss French is to stay in Lowell only a month, but in that time she hopes to have preparations well underway for a playground pageant in the fall. And it shouldn't be forgotten that there is no more loyal friend of the kiddies and their playgrounds than Supt. John W. Kernan of the park department.

The city has provided numerous swings at the playgrounds, and what boy—or girl for that matter—is not capable of getting a maximum of fun out of swinging like the youngster pictured above. Below are some unlucky children condemned to the regions of a not over clean backyard with discarded carts and tin cans. Here the openings for real enjoyment are few and there is always the possibility that wounds may be received from rusty nails that may develop into blood poisoning.

Lowell has a free for all merry-go-round like to one pictured above, but it also has hoodlums who have put it out of commission so often nights after the children were through using it that its use has been discontinued. At the right is a picture of what ought not to be—children playing beside a garbage can. There will continue to be youngsters who will have to get their summer enjoyment in places like this until the city provides more public playing places.

BIG INCREASE IN
NUMBER OF VOTERS

More Lowell men will be eligible to vote next fall than at any time previous in the history of the city, judging from the number of poll assessments made this year by the board of assessors.

Although the precise number of assessments for 1920 will not be known until the end of the year, at the present time the figure stands at 32,032, including those who have been exempted from payment owing to military service and for various other causes stipulated by law. This is an increase of nearly 2000 over the total number of poll assessments made in 1919. Compared with 10 years ago it is an increase of nearly 5000.

Below is a list of the number of poll assessments levied each year for the past 10 years:

PLAN FOR OUTING

AND LADIES' DAY

Members of the local council of the Knights of Columbus are discussing plans for an outing and ladies' day at the Genoa club grounds in Nashua. The summer outing is an annual feature of K. of C. circles and last year took the form of a reception to service men of the council. It is hoped this year to combine the annual ladies' day and outing into one affair. No definite decision has yet been reached, but the matter will undoubtedly be determined at the next meeting of the organization.

Many wild rumors were afloat in Belfast this morning, one being that a trainload of Sinn Féiners was coming from Cork to attack the city. Investigation proved this, as well as many other reports of trouble, untrue.

AMERICANS MIXED

UP IN SHOOTING

LONDON, July 12.—The attack on the party of police in which Sergt. Mooney was wounded while returning from the postoffice to the barracks at Dungloe, is attributed to an unpleasant experience of three American citizens, Michael, Eugene and Nell O'Donnell of New York, brothers, who are now visiting Donegal.

The O'Donnells attended a fair at Dungloe a few days ago and while returning to the home of friends the same night met a party of police on the road some miles from Dungloe. In passing, a policeman coughed, and Michael O'Donnell, in a jocular mood, also coughed.

The police resented this and one of them, alleged to have been Sergt. Mooney, struck Michael O'Donnell with a rifle, knocking him down and fracturing his jaw. Michael was carried unconscious by his brothers to a neighboring house, where it is declared he now lies in a critical condition.

The news of the assault created indignation at Dungloe, according to the report, and the following day Mooney was shot by a person stationed in an unoccupied house in Dungloe. Whether Mooney will recover from his wounds is considered doubtful.

MOVIES ON COMMON

Municipal moving pictures will be shown on the South common this evening under the auspices of the park department if the weather is favorable. Tomorrow evening the weekly exhibition will be given on the North common and Wednesday evening on the playground of the Lawrence Mfg. Co. at Aiken street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Lynch, of 171 Aiken street, are spending a couple of weeks at Salisbury beach.

Rev. Raymond Blais of Newport, Vt., and his mother and brother of Winooski, Vt., are the guests of Mrs. Blais' brother, Dr. George E. Calais of Merrimack street.

John McDonald, an employee of the Tremont & Suffolk mills for over 43 years and overseer of the spinning department for many years, severed his connection with the firm Saturday and on the occasion of his departure was presented a purse of gold by his employees, the presentation being made by D. J. Reardon.

Everett Lougee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Lougee, of South Chelmsford, sprained the ligaments of his right leg while bathing in Hart pond Saturday evening. In attempting a dive his foot got caught and he hung suspended until released by his companions. He was treated at St. John's hospital.

Rev. Leon Lamothe, O.M.I., pastor of Notre Dame de Lourdes' church, left last evening on a two months' vacation to Montreal. During his absence, Rev. J. B. A. Barlette, O.M.I., will be acting pastor and he will be assisted by Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., and Rev. F. X. Marcotte, O.M.I., D.D., the latter of the Ottawa university.

About 300 children took part in the outing which was held on the grounds of the Lowell Driving club at Golden Cove, Chelmsford yesterday, for the members of the Lowell Hebrew Free school. The guests were entertained at luncheon and were also amused with games and athletic events. David Ziskind was in charge of the arrangements, assisted by an able committee.

MATRIMONIAL

A double marriage took place yesterday afternoon at St. Marie's chapel, South Lowell, when Mr. Francis E. Torres of Barcelona, Spain, and now located at St. Claude, Minn., and Miss Alice Beatrice Gendreau and Mr. Auguste Rouleau, Jr., of Quincy and Miss Sarah Maria Gendreau, were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at 2.30 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I. The brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Gendreau, father of the brides, and Mr. Auguste Rouleau, Sr., of Quincy, father of one of the grooms. The brides were attired in georgette crepe and crepe de chine with veil caught up with lilies of the valley and carried shower bouquets of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the parents of the brides, where a wedding dinner was served. Later Mr. and Mrs. Torres left for St. Claude, Minn., where they will make their home, while Mr. and Mrs. Rouleau left for Montreal and Quebec and upon their return they will make their home in Quincy.

Sookiklan—Keezerian

The marriage of Mr. Edward N. Sookiklan, of this city, and Miss Alice Keezerian of Cambridge, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride, 385 Broadway, Cambridge, the officiating clergyman being Rt. Rev. Bishop Knaparsian, assisted by Rev. Fr. Bagdasarian. The bride wore a navy blue silk gown and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. She was attended by Miss

MARRIAGE ANNIVERSARY

At their home in Lakeview last evening Chief Quartermaster Joseph F. and Mrs. Crepeau entertained many of their friends on the occasion of the sixth anniversary of their marriage. During the afternoon boating and bathing were enjoyed by some of the younger people present and later a buffet luncheon was served on the veranda of the house which overlooks the lake. In the musical program the following entertained: Miss Fleur Ange Brousseau, Miss Regina Caron, Miss Margaret Crepeau, Joseph A. N. Chretien and Mrs. Crepeau, with Chief Crepeau as accompanist. Mr. and Mrs. Crepeau were the recipients of many pleasing gifts.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Roy of Hudson, Chief Water Tender, U.S.N., W. H. Carey of Boston, Chief T. J. Lynch of the local navy recruiting station and Chief Boat-swain's Mate P. Turcotte, now retired after 26 years' service with Uncle Sam's sea fighters.

TOLL TAX MONEY

The city treasurer's office made a healthy haul Saturday when it collected $4863 in 1920 poll taxes. However, Saturday's business did not equal that of a week ago, when $6863 was taken in on 1920 bills. July 15, next Thursday, is the final day on which to avoid extra costs for the payment of the $5 tax.

DRAWING CONTEST

The drawing contest for a gold watch organized some time ago by Garde Sacre Coeur of Notre Dame de Lourdes' parish, was brought to a close yesterday, the lucky winner being Eugene Genereux of 49 Spring court, holder of ticket numbered 410.

federal constitution, to which we Vermonters are loyal subscribers, are in conflict with these laid down in the constitution of Vermont. The federal constitution provides that proposals for change therein shall, if favorable action is taken thereon on the Congress, be submitted to the legislatures of the several states for their action, and the supreme court of the United States has in a recent decision, Hawke vs. Smith, June 1, 1920, declared:

"The referendum provisions of state constitutions and statutes cannot be applied, consistently with the Constitution of the United States, in the ratification or rejection of amendments to it."

"This decision leaves the people at the mercy of any group of men who may lobby a proposal for change in the federal constitution through Congress and then through the legislatures of the states."

"In the face of this situation, I am asked to call the legislature of Vermont into extraordinary session, not for the purpose of debating, considering, deliberating on the question at issue, but with a majority of its members pledged beforehand and in private, as I understand it, to ratify the proposed amendment."

"If the people of Vermont, in according a place in the union of states, inadvertently lost in whole or in part the right of self-government and conferred it on a legislature there is all the more reason why a legislature should not pass upon a question which has arisen since their election and upon which their constituents have had no opportunity to express themselves."

"We must now either remodel our own constitution to conform with the mandate of the supreme court of the United States, or the Constitution of the United States must be amended to provide for a referendum to the free men of the several states before amendments to that constitution become effective. As it stands and is interpreted by the supreme court today, the federal constitution threatens the foundation of free popular government."

Member of the Associated Press

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

A news report says that 33 languages are spoken in New York. I suppose, that nothing—come to Lowell if you want to hear real cosmopolitanism.

"Who killed Elwell?" seems destined to take its place alongside that other unanswered and unanswerable conundrum, "Who stole Charley Ross?"

The silk-stocking class appears to have lost its exclusiveness—about everybody belongs to it in these piping times of high prices and prosperity.

Oh, if we could only put some of this warm July weather away on the shelf in jars to be opened when the coal bins are beginning to run low next winter.

South Lowellites needn't think that they acquire any title to uniqueness by complaining about the car service that they have to put up with.

Senator Harding is reported to be busy writing his speech of acceptance, but the nation isn't waiting with any great degree of anxiety to find out whether he is going to accept or not.

Fate provided Governor Cox with one advantage over his rival when it gave him a name that political rhytmeters can readily weave into campaign songs. Harding is a hard one for even the most enthusiastic republican poet to tackle.

We cannot blame the republicans overmuch for making strenuous efforts to attract public attention away from their platform. Trying to create a campaign bogey of Wilsonism does not offer much promise of success.

It is not out of place to remind a few members of the American Legion that there were men exempted from service by the draft boards who remained at home and performed their duties as patriotic citizens as fully and effectively as though they had gone to the front.

Would it be possible to arouse enough enthusiasm over Cox and Roosevelt or Harding and Coolidge to induce men to place oilcloth capes over their shoulders and march about the streets with dripping kerosene torches in their hands as was once the common practice?

When it is possible to buy a horse, use him for ten years, and then sell him for more than he originally cost—as happened in the case of the Harvard Brewing company—the dawn of the horseless age does not appear to be within measurable distance in the future.

It is to be hoped that all of the members of the Lowell charter commission will heed the admonition of Chairman James B. Casey that their work shall be performed with "impartiality and fairness and, above all, without fear of offending or displeasing any particular individual or department."

The members of the national association of steel and copper plate engravers are blaming prohibition for a falling off in their business. That's right, if anything unpleasant happens from measles in the nursery to pip in the chicken coop, blame it on the ever handy goat—prohibition.

The members of the Lowell charter commission are likely to find out that there are almost as many people who are sure they know all that is worth knowing about running a city government as there are persons who feel competent to give editors advice about the proper way of getting out newspapers.

CHANGE THE RULE

Some weeks ago, it was proposed that the school board should abolish the rule requiring Normal school graduates to go out of town for experience in teaching before getting a permanent place in the local schools.

Since the war started, and particularly since the cost of living reached such enormous figures, this rule has been a great hardship to young teachers. In many cases, it was almost impossible to find proper boarding places except at an inconvenient distance or where the prices were almost prohibitive.

There is no reason why the young teachers should not be employed here in town to be under the supervision of trained teachers, rather than be compelled to go into the ungraded country schools to work under the most unfavorable conditions.

At the present time when teachers are scarce, there are added reasons for abandoning this practice which never served any good purpose.

CLEANER POLITICS

Sometimes we get into the mood of thinking that about everything in the world is bound for the bowwows with headlong speed, and that nothing is now quite so satisfactory or well done as it was in the good old days. When we get into this pessimistic frame of mind, it is well to pause for a moment and take a glimpse backward over the past.

Take politics for example. The word is often spoken with disdain and as being something that should not be talked about too much in polite society. We hear a lot about corruption in politics. Sometimes—as in the recent attempt of Wood, Lowden, et al., and their friends to buy the republican presidential nomination—we have concrete instances that there is a real basis for the charge that there is corruption in connection with the selection of candidates for public office and their election. We hear occasionally about the grafter in politics, and very likely we have now and always shall have, the grafter with us. He came into existence not a great while after Adam and Eve left the garden of Eden, and he has the sort of disposition that hangs on to the bitter end.

Our politics of today—with all of the black spots connected with them that need wiping out before we shall get the clean, efficient government for which some people are striving—are infinitely cleaner than were the politics of some years ago. We have no whiskey rings, with tentacles reaching into the very heart of government officialdom, as was the case in the days of Grant. We have none of the scandals that once disgraced the nation in connection with the existence of a great railroad lobby at Washington openly flaunting corruption.

We have cleaner political campaigns all round than we used to have. We would not today tolerate such gross charges of personal wrongdoing as were once hurled against Blaine and Cleveland. We have turned more to the consideration of measures than of personalities which is an indication that perhaps present days may be as good, or perhaps a little better, than those of the times gone by.

NO BOULEVARD DANCES

To open a dance hall on the boulevard, would be an invitation to young girls to a lonely place in which they would be exposed to the worst dangers without protection. At the present time, if we are to believe reports, the boulevard is the rendezvous of couples who want to get away from the restraints of the city, from the vigilance of the police and the liability to be "pulled in" for violations of the law. The very proposition is self-condemnatory. No licensing board should give the matter the slightest encouragement. Indeed the board that would license a dance hall upon the boulevard as proposed, would be adjudged guilty of an offense against the moral welfare of the city and wholly blind to the requirements of public safety, public decency and public morality.

Already there are complaints against some of the dance halls we have; and it would be well to see that they are properly ordered before authorizing the opening of more. And if any new halls were to be opened, they should not be on the boulevard, or along the river bank which is one of the most deserted places in the outlying districts, a place surrounded by open fields where moonshine whiskey might be manufactured or purchased without the slightest hindrance reaching the Lowell police.

Let the license commission put its veto on this proposition so that no others of the kind will be brought forward. The location is wholly unsuitable as it would lead to automobile accidents which would perhaps be one of the least important of the evil consequences of having a dance hall opened in such an out of the way place. That of the evil consequences of having a dance hall opened in such a place might be a good site for a garage, but not so for a dance hall.

THE IRISH SITUATION

Lloyd George, the premier of England, in an interview with a delegation of Irish railroad men who objected to handling munition trains, made some statements that brand him as the prince of hypocrites. When he was climbing to political preferment, then a liberal of the Gladstone regime, he said he would resign from parliament if Ireland did not get home rule. For five years past he has been at the head of the government and instead of trying to give Ireland self-government, he has been trying to crush out the spirit of nationality among the people by open murder and a denial of the most elementary rights.

He tries to throw dust in the eyes of the outer world by saying that he will pursue the policy of Abraham Lincoln in fighting secession, implying that Ireland is a voluntary partner in the British union and wants to withdraw. So far as England has been able to make Ireland an integral part of the empire, she has done so, but never with Ireland's consent. Ireland has always held out against British rule and her demands have been overcome only by superior force.

Not being a party to the British union she cannot secede. The real partition or "secession" is that of the three Ulster counties dominated by Carsonism, the minority which Lloyd George says must not be coerced into union with the rest of Ireland. The object of George's Irish partition bill is to divide the people on religious lines and thus keep them from forming a union in favor of independence. For this purpose, Carson is but a government tool and this partition bill to establish minority control would be an insult to any intelligent people.

The claim that the Ulster minority would not be fairly treated in an Irish parliament is the sheerest poppycock invented as a pretext for violating the pledge to give Ireland self-government, of which the Redmond home rule bill stands as irrefutable evidence.

Protestants from the south and west of Ireland, both lay and clerical, come forward to testify against the barefaced groundlessness of this charge that the nationalist or Sinn Fein majority would ill-treat their Protestant fellow countrymen. The memory of Emmet, Grattan, Wolfe Tone, Lord Edward Fitzgerald, the Shearsons and other martyrs to the cause make that forever impossible. It was devotion to a union of creeds for a united Ireland that caused the orange and green to be blended in the flag of the Irish republic.

There is abundant testimony from Protestants, both lay and clerical, to prove that the government charge that the Ulster minority would have anything to fear in entering a parliamentary union with the majority.

Mr. George Russell in his article on the present home rule bill contributed to the New York "Freeman" and republished in the Dublin "Freeman's Journal" says:

"As for the moral consequences of this government of Ireland bill. If it is put into operation it will artificially divide Protestant and Catholic. Nothing could be more loathsome to the man of liberal mind than this reactionary attempt to make religion the basis of politics. I, as an Irish Protestant and an Ulsterman by birth, have lived in southern Ireland most of my life. I have worked in every county, and I have never found my religion made any barrier between myself and my Catholic countrymen, nor was my religion a bar to my work; and in that ill-fated Irish convention one southern Protestant unionist after another rose up to say they did not fear persecution from their nationalist and Catholic countrymen. The leader of the southern unionists made an eloquent appeal to the Ulster unionists to throw their lot in with the rest of Ireland; he said: 'We who have lived among nationalists trust them; we ask you to trust them.'"

In face of such testimony, Lloyd George persists in representing that the armed Ulsterites, who are used as a sort of garrison, would be persecuted, despite the most sweeping guarantees of fair treatment.

The government policy in Ireland is responsible for the present conditions and in view of all the outrages committed by police and the military, it is surprising that the people have shown so much patience and self-control. Why should England fear Irish independence under an arrangement such as we have with Cuba? If it were improperly used, she could take it back in 24 hours. The fact is, she wants to hold Ireland in perpetual bondage, but judging from the demands of influential labor bodies in England, the Irish question may yet prove England's undoing.

SEEN AND HEARD

"The saddest thing that befalls a soul is when it loses faith in God and woman."

A quantity of sugar has been found in a freight jam. And the railroads have a monopoly on jams.

Mixing the Drinks

She was a raw country girl and had come to her new position in town. The mistress was explaining the art of laying the table and was showing her how to place the glasses.

"But, ma'am," said the girl, "you don't want all those glasses on at the same time, do you?"

"Certainly," replied the mistress. "Why not?"

Some Dogs, We'll Say

"Once," said the man with the ginger beard, "I owned a little, woolly Scotch terrier that was one of the smartest animals you ever saw. Funny thing—one day my wife was reading in the paper that woolly dogs wasn't going to be in fashion that summer and she says to me, in a joking sort of way:

"I suppose we will have to sell Dagobert—that was his name—and get a nice, fashionable, smooth-haired dog."

"All right," says I, still keepin' up the joke.

"Now, what do you suppose that there dog went and did?"

"Mebbe he committed suicide," ventured the grocer. "I have heard of dogs havin' their feelings hurt so bad that they killed themselves."

"Not much, he didn't. Didn't I just tell you he had a lot of sense? He just sneaked half a dollar out of the box where we kept the small change to pay the milkman and the newspaper boy and went down to the barber's shop and had his hair cut—that's what he did."

By O. B. Joyful

In size Ohio ranks 35th among the states. But you'd never believe it when you take a squint at the way Ohio corners everything worth garnering. With a republican candidate for president and a democratic candidate for president, Ohio only was restrained from grabbing both vice presidential niches by a little old clause in the constitution. Since Hayes showed how easily it was to climb into the White House after another guy's been elected, Ohioans have been kicking for that goal. Why, it's gotten so there are only two occupations in life for a self-respecting Ohioan. One is to run for president. The other is to win a big league pennant. The very day Ohio pulled the hog act, and grabbed another presidential nomination, the Cleveland team was leading the American League and the Cincinnati was firsting it in the National League. There's some talk of changing the League of Nations so the United States will have one vote and Ohio five. That'll even up the British collection of international ballots. Maybe they'll move the White House to Columbus. That'd save Ohioans considerable travel moving into and out of the White House. There are only two Ohioans on the supreme bench, but Cox and Harding have given their word that future vacancies will be plugged up with Ohio legal lights. You know Ohio's real name isn't Ohio. That's just as alias, as crooks express it. The real name is Ohionhio. The Iroquois called it that. In 1783 a gang of easterners started the town of Losantiville. Then the Losantivillers changed the burg's name to Cincinnati and won the pennant. Comes Mose Cleveland and starts another town in the northern part of the state so the American League pennant can be awarded to Cleveland. But folks have you ever thought of the earthquake there'll be if that Ohio state would win both league pennants and then play off the world series just about the time the two Ohio presidential candidates are racing down the home stretch? Then a lot of them will begin speaking about the United States of America and Ohio!

Vacation

And now vacation time is here. When favored folks who roam look down on us less lucky ones. Who have to stay at home. They spend a fortnight or a month from all their worries free. Up-sizing at the mountain tops, Or by the bounding sea.

They have a most delightful time, Or so they say they do. And sometimes those they leave behind.

Get a vacation, too. For though the well-known poet says: "To stay at home is best." It's well sometimes to go away. And give our folks a rest.

ANNUAL SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

The annual Sunday school picnic of the Gorham Street Primitive Methodist church was held Saturday afternoon at Milligan's grove under the direction of the pastor, Rev. N. W. Matthews and Richard C. Campbell, assistant superintendent of the school. The names of the committeemen were published previously.

A baseball game between teams captained by Carl Johnson and Ralph Dukeshire, was won by the former by the score of 14 to 11. N. W. Matthews, Jr., was umpire. The results in the races were as follows: Fat men's race, Sam Willis, Richard Potter; married men's race, J. Higginbottom, H. Tivey; boys' race, Alfred Clegg, Arthur Chapman; girls' race, Jeannie Cudworth, Olive Scott; baseball throw for women, Martha Howarth, Mrs. G. Byron; hop, step and jump, Louis Daniels, Bert Neld; broad jump, R. Dukeshire, Charles Neld; girls' race, Marie Wingood, Mildred Neld; three-legged race, Clegg and Daniels, Tivey and Neld; race for ladies, Carrie Holding, Muzaret Hoggarth; boys' race, Northrup and Clegg; shot-put, R. Dukeshire, L. Dukeshire; special race, J. Fielding, S. Willis.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

A sight witnessed, on Middlesex street yesterday was reminiscent of the old days of the horse car in Lowell. The body of an ancient trolley car had been loaded on a low truck and was being drawn along in the middle of the car tracks by four horses. It recalled vividly the days when the horse cars trundled down the same street. That seems a good while ago. The first electrically propelled cars were introduced in the south in the early eighties. The earliest trolley line in New England was opened for traffic in Woonsocket, R.I., about 1855. It was considered a great curiosity and people travelled for long distances to see it in operation. After the Woonsocket line had proved that it was a success the first line was opened in Boston. It ran from Brookline village through Boylston street, to Park square and returned by the same route. It was not a trolley line but was operated by current taken from an underground wire, contact with which was made by an arm extending out from the side of the cars and reaching into a slot outside of the track. The West End company, that owned the line, asserted that the underground system was not a success, and overhead power lines were installed. It has been surmised that this construction was adopted because it was cheaper, as the underground system is a success in New York city.

I understand that the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company has resumed through service between Lowell and Nashua in order to find out if traffic is heavy enough to warrant the permanent maintenance of service in the territory lying between Mountain Rock and the outskirts of Nashua. For some time this service has been discontinued owing to the lean patronage it was receiving, but after persistent efforts on the part of Nashua people, the company agreed to give it another trial for a brief period. If the patronage warrants permanent service, it will be given; if not, it will again be discontinued. A few years ago there was a fairly heavy electric car traffic between the two cities, but evidently the popularity of the automobile has made serious inroads on the receipts of the railway company. However, it is up to people who wish the service between these two points to patronize it so that it will be maintained permanently.

The aeroplanes were busy at Salisbury beach yesterday unabashed by the tragic occurrence of Saturday. The planes can operate on the beach only at low tide and during that time they carried perhaps 25 passengers, two planes operating from the water front near the Centre.

The comment on the fatal accident of Saturday showed much sympathy for Mrs. Richard H. Long, one of the victims. She had been taking aeroplane trips since last October and seemed to have as much courage in flying as the ordinary aviator. Both her legs were broken at the ankles and her skull was fractured. The aviator's neck was torn open and part of the steering gear entered his body. The machine, apart from the motor, was smashed to pieces, as if it were glass. It was supposed that the accident would have stopped the flying at Salisbury; but while it had a discouraging effect on some, there were still a considerable number ready to take the risk. Perhaps the fact that there is a possibility of danger makes aviation more attractive to some people, particularly those who are willing to take serious chances in quest of a thrill.

WIDOW OF NAPOLEON III DIES IN MADRID

MADRID, July 12.—The former Empress Eugenie of France died here yesterday. Death occurred shortly before 8 o'clock from acute intestinal inflammation.

The empress passed away quietly in the presence only of her lady-in-waiting. Her nephew, the Duke of Alba, at whose residence she died, was in France, and the other members of the family were absent.

Full Imperial Honors. Empress Eugenie had long suffered from ophthalmia and had been operated on for cataract. Full imperial honors will be accorded her funeral. Preparations are under way for the opening of Empress Eugenie's will. The only member of the family now in Madrid is a niece.

Eugenie Maria de Montijo, former empress of France, was born in Granada, Andalusia, Spain, May 5, 1826. She was the second daughter of Count Manuel Fernandez de Montijo, Duke of Penedera, and Maria Manuela Kirkpatrick or Closeburn, Dumfriesshire, Scotland. Her maternal grandfather was William Kirkpatrick, United States consul at Malaga, who was a native of Scotland, but a naturalized American. The former empress was educated in France, Spain and England, and traveled extensively with her mother on the European continent. She met her husband, Emperor Napoleon III, first in 1851, and married him in Notre Dame cathedral, Paris, Jan. 30, 1853. Prince Napoleon, her only son, who was the prince imperial, was born March 16, 1856.

NO RELIEF WITH RENT LAWS IN EFFECT

NEW YORK, July 12.—The new state rent laws are ineffective and have not deterred profiteering landlords from continuing rent gouging assaults on thousands of tenants in New York city, according to Leo Kenneth Mayer, chief counsel for the mayor's committee on rent profiteering.

The landlords are adopting diverse methods to circumvent the new laws, Mr. Mayer declared, and have been successful to a certain extent.

The three chief dodges employed by the landlords as outlined by Counsel Mayer are:

Notify tenants that their leases will not be renewed unless they are willing to pay exorbitant rentals. If they refuse to meet this increase the tenants are then ousted by due process of the law.

Notify tenants that the premises have been sold on the co-operative plan but offer to sell them the apartment, if they will pay the exorbitant sum asked.

Show a higher valuation on their property by inter-transfer of property through alleged sales and thus be able to extract a higher rental.

The first method, according to Mr. Mayer, is the most popular but is rather slow as it takes from one month to one year to legally oust a tenant.

The co-operative selling plan, he declared, was one of the new inventions of the landlords to exploit the tenant.

The transferring of property on the pretense of making a bona fide sale and thus increasing the valuation of the premises is one of the latest dodges, Mr. Mayer explained. By this method the landlord "sells" to a relative or business partner, then "buys" the property back again and thus runs up the valuation, which will command a higher rental under the state laws.

The entire legal staff of the rent committee has been placed at the disposal of tenants in their fight against the rent profiteer. Landlords who are inclined to be fair are meeting their tenants in the offices of the commit-

Police Suspect Foul Play

VINAL HAVEN, Me., July 12.—Timothy Smith, a farmer aged about 70, was found dead in bed today with a bullet wound in the breast. Failure to find a weapon led to a suspicion of foul play, and Medical Examiner G. L. Crockett and County Attorney H. L. Wilhee were summoned from Rockland. Smith lived alone near Pequod Quarry, a mile from the village. If the foul play theory is confirmed, robbery may have been the motive as he was known to have kept some money in his home.

Lawrence Mills Re-open

LAWRENCE, July 12.—The Uswooc mills of the United States Worsted Co., employing 1500 and Walworth Brothers Worsted mill, employing 300, were reopened today after a shutdown of two weeks.

Under which the combine will work and to prepare a joint platform.

The recommendations, if approved today as the leaders confidently expect, mean that the two conventions will preserve their separate identity and continue to function in separate sessions, with sub-committees reporting identical measures to each for discussion and action.

What reception the amalgamation proposal will receive from other liberal and radical groups now meeting here only time can show. The single tax party, also in national convention assembled, is divided, according to the expressions of various leaders, on the availability of Senator La Follette, as presidential nominee. One group of single taxers has announced that it will bolt the proposed combine rather than stand for La Follette, while another faction has declared it will accept any presidential nominee so long as a tax plank is incorporated in the platform.

If Senator La Follette wants the third party nomination, he can have it. Both forty-eighters and laborites agree. He is already the overwhelming choice of the forty-eighters, a mail referendum has shown. While other candidates will be placed in nomination in the labor convention and probably in the forty-eight meeting too, the senator's friends say both groups are ready to nominate him.

Frank P. Walsh, Kansas City, Chas.

Conventions Re-Convene

called on the senator to ask if he will accept the nomination should it be tendered to him.

Conference committees appointed yesterday by the labor convention and Saturday by the forty-eighters smoothed out objections to amalgamation in a protracted session last night and adopted a series of recommendations today.

Besides urging the combining to be offered to the two conventions of forces under a common name, they also proposed appointment of special sub-committees to draft the machinery

H. Ingersoll, manufacturer, and Henry Ford have been mentioned for the nomination, but there is no apparent concerted action to further the prospects of any one of them. Walsh is also being discussed for vice president.

Yesterday was given over to the opening session of the labor convention, with delegates from 60 trade union groups and other organizations represented. The forty-eighters and single taxers, whose convention opened Saturday, had recessed for the day and practically their entire membership attended the labor convention, many participating as active delegates.

Prominent among those assuming a dual delegate role was James Duncan, one of the leaders of the general strike in Seattle last year. Duncan on Saturday, was elected chairman of the Washington delegation to the convention of the committee of 48 and yesterday chosen vice chairman of the labor convention.

The radical groups who, according to Swinburne Hall, one of their leaders, were in the minority in the 48 convention Saturday, were in the ascendancy yesterday, and vigorously applauded when their leaders prayed for the day when the workers of America would follow the example set by the workers of Russia.

Every reference to Russia, and to Ireland too, was applauded with a will, and when John Fitzpatrick, the labor keynoter, praised the Russian revolution three cheers for soviet Russia were called and given.

ROSS RETAINS HIS SWIMMING CROWN

CHICAGO, July 12.—Norman Ross, titleholder in the 440-yard swim, successfully defended his title against a classy field in the best race of the second day's Western Olympic tryout in Lincoln Park lagoon yesterday.

Ross won by 10 feet from W. W. Harris of the Hawaiian swimming team, and P. Kealoha, who was second in the 100-yard championship on Saturday, was third.

Ross had plenty in reserve all the time and when Harris threatened on the last stretch the L. A. C. star easily pulled away.

New York Boxing Manager Sends Poetic Appeal in Behalf of His "Stable"

Leo P. Flynn, the New York boxing promoter and manager, who has arrested in Lowell on many occasions, sends the following poetic propaganda, relative to his boxing "stable":

"My Fighters"
BY LEO P. FLYNN

Matchmaker, don't give me a bit of your time
And I'll give you a hit of my fighters in rhyme:

They battle like h— and draw at the gate;

Look my list over and give us a date.

Bill Brennan, my heavyweight, they've dubbed him K.O.

For he's right from the old red, the County Mayo.

He made Mike, Levinsky and Moehan look slow.

It's now up to Dempsey to give us a turn so.

Kid Norfolk of Panama, the Black Thunder Bolt,

He's speedy and clever, and boys, he can jolt.

He's only five feet, he's been burnt by the sun.

He'll fight any heavy who weighs less than a ton.

Panama Joe Gans, colored middle weight champ,

Ask ten notchers to box him, see how quickly they'll vamp.

He'll agree to box anyone, regardless of size.

From the welterweights up, the limit's the skies.

Then the ex-A.A.U. champion, Eddie Dillare,

And his stout-hearted stable-mate, Barney Adair,

Get them opponents, that are tough, we don't care,

For both of them come from the plains of Kildare.

Pete Hartley, my lightweight, who belts them on the lugs,

His opponents will tell you, he's sure one tough muck.

If they swap punches with Pete, they must be insane.

For Mike Old Butting Nelson, he's a durable Dane.

Leo Johnson, the colored champ, boxes with ease.

The hardest of hitters, makes them look like a cheese.

He beat Wellins, Dundee, Jackson and Cline.

For a return match with Leonard, should soon be in line.

Little Bud Dempsey, who always fights hard,

In the bantamweight division, is now quite a card.

Tearing Roy Moore, the fighting hard from St. Paul,

Who boxes the clever ones, sluggers and all.

New York Johnny Russell, who fights all the time,

What he done to Patsy Wallace sure was a crime:

Frankie Burns, Frankie Britt, Benny Valzer, his guys, too,

When John stood them off, they thought they were through.

Bobby Hansen of Denmark put him on very soon.

With a Greek, or a Jew, or a Wop, or a Choon,

Wire night, noon, or morning, New York, that's the state!

K. OF C. OUTCLASSES PITTS' SOUTH ENDS

Distinctly outclassing their opponents at practically every stage of the game, the Knights of Columbus easily defeated Pitts' South Ends in the second of their series of games for the semi-pro championship of the city at Spaulding park Saturday afternoon. The score was 12 to 4.

With Eddie Cawley on the mound flinging them in at big league pace, the Knights kept the South End hits scattered and only in one inning—the second—did Manager Lyons' men show any dangerous propensities. Devlin was in the box for the South common boys and lasted only one and a third innings. When the Knights opened their barrage in the second, McCarthy was called in from the outfield and remained until the eighth when McMahon was transferred from second. Walter Foye, the K. of C. backstop, buckled, the South End's first baseman, started at the bat. There was a fair-sized crowd on hand to enjoy the fun. The score:

SPECIAL TRAINING FOR DISTANCE RUNNERS

BOSTON, July 12.—The team of long distance runners which will represent the United States in the Marathon race at the Olympics will be given a special course of training. It was announced today, Carl W. A. Of the 48 legislatures in the United States, only six meet annually.

GRAND CIRCUIT OFF TO BRILLIANT SUCCESS

The Grand Circuit was on to the most brilliant start in the history of the famous chain at Cleveland last Monday, the holiday attendance being the largest ever seen at a straight race meeting. More people have watched the harness stars perform, but these record crowds have seen patrons of some big fair.

It came on Tuesday and again later in the week, so that the program was crowded up and the track was not at its best after the opening day until Saturday. The result saved the winners' fast records, however.

Never is it wise to pass judgment on a horse on one performance. The start of the season, but on what they showed last week some of the highly regarded horses are going to have a tough road in making good. A few lived up to the nice things that have been said of them all spring, while some surprise stars flashed in the sky.

Red Lancelot and John Henry were two of the pacers that came clean, while Symbol S. Forrest and Hal Mahone were two that failed.

HELD LAWN PARTY

The lawn party given Saturday afternoon and evening on the lawn of the Father Mathew Total Abstinence Society in Billerica under the auspices of the married women of St. Andrew's parish was a success in every way. The attendance was large and the sales tables reported a very thriving business. The affair was in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. D. J. Dewire.

OPEN ALASKA IS PLEA OF GOVERNOR RIGGS

BY MAX STERN.
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Alaska faces a boom, if the plans embodied in the democratic platform to let down the bars to capital in that territory go through.

This is the hopeful prophecy of Governor Thomas Higgs, Jr., of Alaska, who, along with George B. Briggs, John W. Troy and other leading Alaska democrats, succeeded in pledging the administration forces to modify the terms of the Pinchot conservation enactments.

"Alaska is America's treasure house, but it has had its doors locked by the policy of the extreme conservationists too long," said Gov. Higgs.

"The oil leasing bill has given us some relief and will encourage capital to develop the oil resources in Alaska. But we do not know how much oil is there. We know that the only one patented claim is producing oil superior to Pennsylvania oil, and giving a content of 60 per cent. gasoline as compared to 12 per cent. in California oils.

"There need be no paper shortage in the United States. We have enough pulp timber up there to supply the world for years. In southeastern Alaska there are 15 million acres of pulp forests. These have been kept from development by the terms of Pinchot laws.

"Unlimited coal resources lie undeveloped in Alaska. The navy department is mining the Matanuska field, and finds the product equal to West Virginia coal in quality. There is more coal in the territory of Alaska than in the United States.

"Alaska is third in the production of gold. California and Colorado only exceed her in gold production.

"Our fisheries are also suffering from inadequate and antiquated laws. Under bureau mismanagement and neglect our fisheries are fast becoming depleted. They are being fished during the spawning season, and there no closed season is respected.

"In general we want enlightened regulation, but we want the hands of the radical conservationists kept off of Alaska. Otherwise we will remain as we are, a country of vast industrial and economic possibilities, but hampered and retarded by lack of developing capital.

"The present laws are too extreme for a new and undeveloped country, and Alaska will never prosper until they are modified.

HAIRPINS PAY TAXI FARE IN PARIS

BY HELEN RING ROBINSON
Colorado State Senator
(Reporting International Suffrage Congress for N.E.A.)

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 12.—Of course, if your business interests force you to go to Europe this summer, you'll have to go.

Or, if the call comes to sail overseas

in order to do good (and you can manage it without doing a lot of harm) then go, by all means.

In every other case my advice to those about to sail for Europe is: Cancel your sailing.

Especially if you're a woman! Stay in America till the summer of 1921. Or, better, 1922.

But you say you "want to see the battlefields and trenches, while they still look like battlefields."

Don't worry. They will still be there, shell-torn, infernal, in 1922.

There is, however, a chance that the army of 1,000,000 blackmailers, more or less, through whose serried ranks you must now elbow your European way, may be somewhat diminished by 1922.

Some of them may die, for example.

Called Inspectors

Those blackmailers are officially called "inspectors" and things like that. Hangovers from the war, when they were employed as spy hunters and in other capacities, an European government feels strong enough to dismiss them. So places have been made for them to pillage travelers at national borders.

Suppose you have reached the French border, touching Switzerland. You are routed out of your car. The lower ranks of blackmailers seize your baggage.

If you don't know the custom of the country, and have more than the equivalent of a hundred American dollars about you—or a ten dollar gold piece—Heads! You are "detained." Or fined. And you never see your gold again.

All Kinds of Blackmail

You are herded again. It is the passport blackmailer this time. You may get by him without any passport at all if you "know the ropes" and have 50 francs handy.

Then a third herding, the turn of the luggage blackmailers. If you have generous fees in sight you escape with easy chalk marks. Otherwise your luggage will have no secrets from inspectors or fellow travelers.

The story of the French barrier is repeated at most of the other European borders.

But even blackmailers may seem soothing after tussling with the sub-

For there is no small change in Paris.

New Legal Tender

You go into a cafe for your afternoon cup of chocolate. Four francs are due you in change. The waiter hands you four little packets of postage stamps, each marked "one franc," and courteously accepts one package as his tip. But your taxi driver will, have none of them. So you sadly offer him your last five-franc piece, knowing what will happen. He has no change. Not a soul! Not even a "metro," or underground railroad ticket. Non! Non!

I had just one happy taxi experience during my stay in Paris. Again I was short of change. The driver was, too. But she was a woman. She snuffed at my postage stamps. She scorned my chamber of commerce money. In despair I offered her a fresh package of hairpins. She took them with gusto as full legal tender.

These are only a few of the surface difficulties for American travelers in Europe today.

HEALTH ADVICE

Prepared by United States Public Health Service

There are at least two rooms in the house which call for special attention as regards cleanliness; these are the kitchen and the apartment where food-stuff is stored.

Many housewives believe that soap and water are not adequate to keep rooms in good sanitary condition, and are persuaded to substitute all sorts of disinfectants and deodorants. Such agents are not necessary for cleaning purposes, for filth and dirt should be removed and not treated. The most effective means of accomplishing this is by the free use of soap and water, which always secures the desired result if properly employed. A solution of one pound of washing soda in three gallons of hot water is also valuable for this purpose.

The woodwork in and about the kitchen and storeroom and the various receptacles for food and waste products should be frequently and thoroughly scrubbed and cleaned to prevent the accumulation of decomposing organic matter which is responsible for the unpleasant odor so frequently noticed in these places.

The most scrupulous attention should be paid to the ice box. Among the food products it contains there are articles which decompose and become

Boiling water may be depended upon to destroy all germs. The various table utensils may be freed from contamination by this means, provided they are placed in water and constantly boiled for at least five minutes. It is also important that the cellar should be kept carefully cleaned and the walls and floors properly cemented. If the latter are not impermeable, offensive fluids and gases may enter from the surrounding soil and contaminate food stuff, particularly milk. An occasional coat of whitewash provides a simple means of keeping a well constructed cellar free from unpleasant odors.

Closed Wednesday

Contrary to our usual custom, we will be open all day Wednesday this week. Thursday we close at 10 A. M. for druggists' outing.

PORCH SHADES MADE UNDER PATENT LICENSE

When the weather is stifling hot, you can sleep comfortably on a porch if it is protected with COOLMOR Wind-Safe Self-Hanging Porch Shades. Outsiders cannot see you through COOLMOR Shades, but the air circulates through them, while all drafts are avoided.

Their rich and harmonious color combinations add greatly to the appearance of even the finest homes.

It doesn't cost very much to turn an ordinary day porch—even one exposed and close to the street—into a sleeping porch at night, that will permit you to enjoy sound sleep, which would be impossible indoors. When morning comes, your night porch is a day porch again in two minutes without any work at all.

Let us show you the COOLMOR Self-Hanging features with paper pattern, which enable you to hang a shade in five minutes.

Case Placed on File

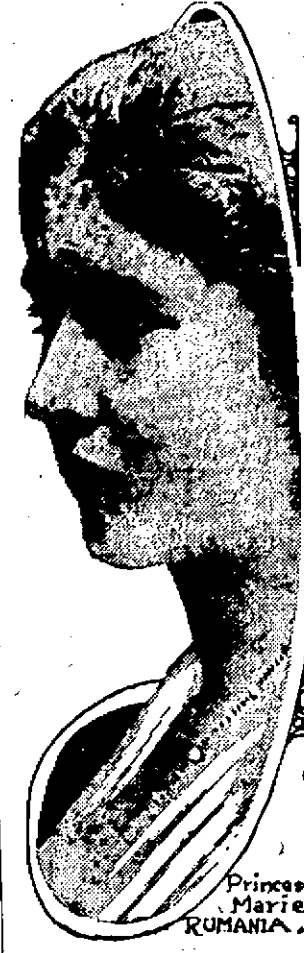

Oswald Welser of West Fourth street pleaded guilty to discharging firearms within the city limits and had his case placed on file. Welser had been pestered by a gang of crumple-shooters who held out near his home each day, and when they reappeared last evening on the scene and bothered his wife and children with their loud talk and obscene language he went out into the street and discharged his revolver to frighten them. Judge Enright admitted that it was a technical violation of the law, but the man had some justification.

The defendant said that the gang went so far last night as to threaten bodily harm to him and his wife and when they left the house to walk on the street they were followed by some of them. Officers McCoughrey and Mahan arrested Welser.

Henry Blanchette pleaded guilty to drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and was ordered to pay a fine of $10 for drunkenness and sentenced one month to the house of correction for the latter offense. He appealed both.

PRINCESS MARIE

COMING TO U. S.

It is reported that the beautiful Princess Marie will accompany her mother, the queen of Rumania, when the queen visits America shortly.

Children We Worry About

Close confinement to school during the past winter, overstudy perhaps, an attack of the grip or tonsillitis, some one of these things is doubtless responsible for the condition of the child who shows a decline in health now.

What are the symptoms? Pallor and languor, a sickle appetite, dark rings under the eyes, bronchial colds. Very often the best efforts of the family physician fail in such cases and the condition of the child causes the most intense anxiety. Cod-liver oil, so often prescribed, generally fails because the weak stomach is unable to digest it.

Try this treatment. Before breakfast each morning, give the child the juice of half an orange. After the noon meal give one of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Keep this up for a few days then give one of the pills after the evening meal also. Weigh the child before beginning the treatment and again after two weeks. An increase in weight of from two to five pounds will show you that you are on the right track at last. Care is necessary in the diet of the patient and it will be well to send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the book "What To Eat and How To Eat." Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.—Adv.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and many do not realize this. Laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Blaudart's Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Blaudart's Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their food with no more fear of indigestion. Liggett's Riker-Jaynes' Drug Stores.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE

Pursuant to a license to sell real estate, to me, issued by the Probate Court for the County of Suffolk, dated September 18, 1919, there will be sold by public auction on the premises in Friendship Street near the corner of Lexington Road, Millis, Mass., on Tuesday, the 13th day of July, 1920, at 1 o'clock, the following described

Quaint Old Resting and Recreation Place Where Girls Spend Happy Hours

Old Marshall Inn, known as the Girls' Community club camp, situated beyond Billerica Center in Riverhurst on the Concord river, was rented early in the spring months from June to September. It got its name from a former owner who used to accommodate many vacationists during the summer. Its present owner, from whom the girls rented it, is Mr. Edward Fermoyle, formerly of Somerville, but now of Billerica. The camp is the center of activities for most of the community club members during the summer.

Ideally located near the river in a beautiful cove and surrounded by miles and miles of open fields dotted with woods, it provides wonderful opportunity for the activities of the girls' club. It is the headquarters for numerous parties who enjoy boating, swimming, hiking, tennis, volleyball, and other outdoor sports.

A proposition to maintain a camp came up at a meeting early this year and the girls decided to rent the Marshall Inn with the idea of paying all expenses by dues paid regularly into the club treasury. From its opening in June, the venture has been most successful under the amateur housekeepers and by careful management the cost of upkeep has been cut considerably. Miss Katherine Cronin has been in direct charge and she has been assisted recently by Miss Bawita Lawler.

Girls wishing to spend the week-end at camp register at the Community club and assist in the work and the duties while there, being divided into shifts by the director, Miss Cronin. All cooking is done by the girls themselves, some of the tit-bits from berries and fruits picked in the fields, and they have served many meals to large numbers of guests on Sundays and holidays.

Since the month of June fully 100 young women have spent some time at the camp either as members of a week-end party or visitors during the day. The average number of girls who stay at the camp overnight is 15, but this number is greatly increased during the day by friends who take in all the sports and eat their meals there.

The six rooms of the house have a comfortable capacity of 15, but many times the campers double up for other members of the club. Although the house is electrically lighted it has many quaint touches both inside and out. In an open fireplace there is an old-fashioned oven built in the stones of the chimney, which was used by former occupants, but which is used now as a kitchen closet. Water is supplied by a quaint old well. Outside there is ample space for Newcomb and volleyball and a tennis court. Not far from the camp is an excellent bathing beach where many of the girls learn how to swim under the instruction of Miss Cronin and Miss Lawler.

Although at present plans for the winter are not formulated, Miss Cronin expects that special arrangements can be made whereby the camp may be used as headquarters for skiing, coasting, sleighing, or snowshoeing parties.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, desire to express our sincere thanks to those who by their acts of kindness and floral tributes served to lighten the burden of sorrow in the loss of our beloved wife and sister. Such evidence of true friendship we shall ever cherish in loving remembrance.

WOOD ENTERTAINS HIS OPERATIVES

LAWRENCE, July 12.—Employees of the American Woollen company were entertained at "Arden" Friday afternoon by Pres. William M. Wood and it was the biggest outing yet held. They came from Medford, Dracut and Lowell in trucks and special electric and from the wool, burling, mending, dressing, wet and dry finishing and shipping departments of the local mills. Over 2500 men and women were present and enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Wood.

The Waste Exchanges from Medford were conspicuous with the Indian head gear and attracted considerable attention as did the baggage playing of Pipe Major George Smith of Boston and the Scottish dancers by the Irving sisters, and the general host did everything to make the afternoon one of great enjoyment for his guests.

Mr. Wood in an address to the gathering said that he did not know when the mills would re-open but as soon as any work was to be had the American Woollen Co. would try to secure the orders. The reason for the sudden curtailment was given because of the lack of orders and the large number of cancellations which have taken place.

Upon the re-opening of the mills Mr.

ONE GUESS: WHO IS THIS?

That's just what we thought you'd say—but it isn't President Wilson at all! A lot of the delegates to the democratic convention were very much startled when Ralph Faulkner, an actor, walked down the aisle in the convention hall. "For the love of Pete, has the president slipped one over and appeared in person?" And then it came out that Faulkner was just having a bit of fun. And the general impression was that Faulkner doesn't have to act to look like Woodrow.

Wood asked his employees to work with materials and finished product, is cited by President Wood as one of the conditions making the shutdown necessary.

A RECENT PORTRAIT

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)

THE STRAND—Would you have been a better man or woman if you had remained in your home town? The men and women in "Slayers," Alice Brady's new picture, that is being shown at The Strand the first three days of this week, were not any better morally for having left the home environment, but neither was the young man who hung around the parental hearthstone. What would justify a girl of good morals in accepting a position in the household of a woman of questionable character? This and other interesting problems of the day are interesting phases of "Slayers," Frank Mayo in "The Girl in Number 19" is the other contribution, and this too, is exceptionally good as a picture story. The star is seen in one of his best roles. The comedy and Weekly, as well as musical numbers by Miss Robbins, are also commendable.

LAKEVIEW PARK

Lakeview park is really the park of convenience, as a Boston man called it the other day. He found he could stay there a week and he wanted to, and have a quiet or a gay time, as he wished. Its convenience for Lowell people especially struck him. "You people in Lowell don't have to take a day off to have a good time," he said. "In two hours you can have a cool ride, bowl a string or two, cool off with a soft drink and ride back home." Most strangers talk about the music, however. Miller-Doyle's playing and singing, Harry Leavitt adding a little banjo jazz where it fits best, and Barney Moran's solos make an ideal combination.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE—Charles Ray stoops to deceive in his latest photoplay, "Homer Comes Home," being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday, but of course, it's all to a good cause. According to the story, Charlie is a small town dreamer of dreams who goes to the city and becomes a clerk in a large establishment. Returning to his native village on his vacation, he is enabled by a mixture of city-made clothes and bluff to put over a big scheme that makes him a fortune and wins him the girl of his heart. Billie Burke in "Away Goes Prudence," the International News, and a comedy round out the bill.

NO Y. M. C. A. SUMMER SCHOOL THIS YEAR

A summer school will not be conducted by the Lowell Y.M.C.A. this year, but it is hoped that it may be possible to open one next season. The educational program of the association for the fall will be considered at a meeting tonight in the office of General Secretary Howe of the organization's educational committee. A. F. French is chairman of this committee and the other members are C. B. Redway, C. T. Upton and H. J. Ball. It is possible that a number of innovations may be introduced into the association's curriculum in the fall, but the nature of these is not being disclosed until after they have been considered by the committee.

Saturday came very near establishing a new record for the number of users of the association's bathing facilities—both showers and swimming pool. Over 200 persons made use of the bathing quarters. This number includes only adults. About 75 boys also used the baths. A system that has been introduced this month makes it possible for the first time to keep an accurate record of the number of users of the baths.

General Secretary Howe announces that he is on the lookout for a man of suitable qualifications to take charge of the Y.M.C.A. building Sunday. He says that he wants a man of mature years to whom complete supervision of the building can be turned over not only during the summer, but throughout the year.

WANDERER LOSES HOLD ON SELF MOMENTARILY

CHICAGO, July 12.—A theory that Carl Wanderer shot and killed his wife and a hired "robber" because of his interest in a 15-year-old girl was being investigated today by the police. Confronted with the girl in his cell, Wanderer for the first time since his arrest lost composure momentarily, but firmly denied the girl had had any influence on his desire to be free. In one of his statements to the police, Wanderer had said he shot his wife and the baby they expected next month.

The girl, Julia Schmitt, told the police she had known Wanderer some time and had gone to an amusement park with him several times, but did not know he was married. She was not held, as police announced after questioning that they were convinced she had no knowledge of the murder plot which was carried out in the lobby of Wanderer's apartment, June 21.

According to one of the latest of Wanderer's statements to the police, the $1500 which his wife drew from the bank two days before she was shot, was his own money. He had stated once before that he intended to steal the money and return to the army but in the excitement following the shooting forgot about it.

Wanderer today maintained his calm attitude in regard to the murders and talked of his dead wife without emotion.

The identification of the hired "robber" as John J. Maloney of River Point, R. I., was further supported today by John Welland, clerk at a hotel where Maloney has stayed three days before he was slain, and had registered under that name.

MUCH MONEY SPENT ON YACHTING CUP

A yacht is known as "she." I used to wonder why. But now I know its cause. The upkeep is so high.

The speedier they are, the handsomer their rig. With boats as with the girls—They make a fellow dig.

The silver cup, representing the yachting championship, is some valuable bunch of silver, when one figures the amount of money that has been spent to keep it in this country and in efforts to transfer it to England.

The America sailed over the sea back in 1851 and won the cup. Since then the British have been trying to get it back and have spent fortunes in building challengers. And plenty of coin had to be invested in yachts fast enough to keep the Britons from lifting the trophy.

Cambria, tried and failed in 1870. In 1875 the $35,000 Countess of Dufferin tried. It cost $12,000 to race the Mayflower in '83. The Volunteer and Thistle, the 1881 contestants, cost $50,000 each.

Money really began to be spent when Lord Darnley got into the game. This was in 1893 and four defenders were built that year. The Vigilant was chosen and it cost $150,000 to race her. The American defense cost a quarter of a million.

The Defender cost $300,000 in 1895. Sir Thomas Lipton spent $300,000 in his first attempt to lift the cup. The second Shamrock cost him nearly half a million. Constitution, which sailed in the cup, cost half that.

Sir Thomas built the third Shamrock in 1903 and raced against Reliance and the whole bill was more than a million.

In 1913 it was decided to use yachts 75 feet on the water line for the cup races. The cost of racing had gone beyond reason. Resolute cost $125,000 to build. Sir Thomas will put up a million for his share of this month's races. The New York Yacht club will underwrite a big bill for the trial spins, the picked crews and the ocean-going tugs required to pull off the contest.

Therefore, it's easy to imagine that this silver cup represents a king's ransom. Think what it would be worth, set on the diamond table in the New York club and filled with 12-year-old Bourbon. Oh, boy!

The length of the Missouri-Mississippi river is 4200 miles.

AIRPLANES WILL KEEP YACHT COURSE OPEN

NEW YORK, July 12.—The American cup race, off Sandy Hook this month promises to solve the question of "Why are New York's sky cops?" Ever since the police department's aviation division was formed humorists have portrayed duties which might be, but which never will be performed by the bluecoated aviators. Now, however, with giant sloops resuming their racing after a martial interruption, the sky cops' and a task at hand—that of keeping the course free from aircraft.

During the trials between Shamrock IV and the 22-masted Shamrock, which have been held almost daily off the Jersey shore, airplanes have followed in the wake of the yachts like gulls, judging from the interest taken in the trials by aeronauts, yachtsmen fear that the sky will be dark with planes on the days of the race.

It is almost certain that seaplanes and landplanes within flying distance of New York—and this is no mean distance—will be at hand. Even a dirigible now and then may be expected to stick its gaseous nose over the business of the contest. And it is right here that the "sky cops" may have their duty to perform. Direction of traffic at several thousand feet promises this year to be an interesting sight of the big show.

REFUSE COMPENSATION FOR REIMERT'S DEATH

PEKING, June 27.—An unofficial tender of $15,000, reported to have been made by the Chinese government as compensation for the murder of Rev. W. A. Reimert, American missionary of the Yochow Reformed church, by retreating government troops, has been refused by the American legation. The legation informed the Chinese foreign office that a money settlement was not sufficient and insisted that the government hold General Chang Ching-Yo, military governor of the province of Hunan, personally responsible for failure to provide protection. The Chinese government after charging Governor Chang of Hunan with an official admission of incompetence and failing properly to discharge his duties and divesting him of titles and military honors following the loss of Changsha to revolutionary troops, pardoned him by presidential mandate. The pardon cited that he was to be given a chance to render better service in the future.

Rev. W. T. Reimert was killed by Chinese northern government troops during the sacking of the Yochow Reformed church mission, June 16, in their retreat from Changsha, which was occupied June 14 by troops of the southern Chinese government. Strong representations were made by the American legation to the Chinese northern government at Peking.

suffered by the Polish forces. The Lithuanians are assured of protection against aggression and have modified their original demands. Russia will not interfere in boundary disputes involving the Polish, Latvian or German frontiers.

"An early settlement of the negotiations pending between the soviet government and Latvia is presented by the fact that the Latvian ministry does not have the support of a majority in parliament, but we have agreed with the Latvian request that conversations be continued at Riga from which city the delegates will return to Moscow for final deliberations and the signing of the treaty."

Asked regarding rumors concerning a possible Polish peace offer, M. Joffe replied that present indications were that a satisfactory peace could be signed only in Warsaw.

"While socialists desire peace," he continued, "it is hardly possible their terms at the present stage of the war would be acceptable. Polish socialists have always stood for the historical boundaries of that country based on the status of 1772, while the national democrats have favored a less imperialistic policy. Russia does not desire annexation of Polish territory but at the same time admits of no historical or strategic pretensions in negotiations with neighboring states. An essential condition to any peace must be the territorial integrity of white Russia, which occupies the same position as Ukraine and will be accorded the right of autonomy if it is demanded by a majority of the population. Identical conditions apply to the Ruthenians."

Immense difficulties have been encountered in boundary negotiations with border states because there have been few reliable statistics on the ethnographic question, M. Joffe declared. No Russian figures later than 1917 have been available. In debatable regions the only equitable method of reaching a decision would be an uninfluenced plebiscite, he said, but while maintaining the principle of self-determination, Russia has been willing to admit in many instances economic exigencies. An instance of this was the award of an important railroad to Latvia during negotiations with that country.

FIRE IN CHELMSFORD

The home of Mrs. A. M. Blanchard in Westford street, Chelmsford, was slightly damaged by fire Saturday. The blaze, which was on the roof of an ell, was discovered by Lester F. Alden, principal of the high school, who sent in an alarm.

TENNIS MATCHES OFF

EASTBOURNE, England, July 12.—The tennis matches to have been played today by the American and French Davis cup teams were cancelled because of rain. As the Americans on Saturday eliminated the French team, the remaining matches will be merely in the nature of exhibition play.

ALLIES NOT IMPRESSED WITH BERLIN'S PLANS

SPA, Belgium, July 12. (By Associated Press)—The German-allied conference was temporarily halted this morning by the coal question. The allied premiers' meeting which convened at 10.30 o'clock to discuss the German reparations proposition and the question of priority in coal deliveries from Germany, were unable to finish their work in time for the general conference to sit at 1.30 o'clock, the hour previously fixed.

The allied ministers, it appears, are not very favorably impressed by the German reparations plans. The prevailing view, the correspondent was informed, was that the plan was somewhat indefinite on the essential financial points.

It is understood that the German delegates have in reserve another plan, or amendment, of much greater importance than the plan submitted yesterday. The plan now before the conference is considered a substitute for this original plan which the Germans are withholding, being unwilling to disclose the original proposition because they were not given satisfaction on the coal question.

It seems even possible that the trouble over the coal question may result in the prolongation of the conference. The feeling in French circles is said to be that from the standpoint of France, the conference up to the present time has been without fruitful result.

Premier Lloyd George, who was slightly indisposed yesterday, was present at today's meeting of the premiers.

NOT OUT ON STRIKE

The call from the Billerica Centre denly being out on strike. They claim they gave the chief of the department 30 days' notice that they would quit the department if their demand for an increase in wages was not granted. The men say that when they presented their petition to the selectmen a few weeks ago the original copy of their demand contained a paragraph to the effect that if they were not granted the increase they would leave the department in 30 days, but Chief Bartlett advised them to cut that part of the petition and they did.

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS TO ADDRESS COMMUNITY SERVICE CLUB THIS EVENING

At a meeting of the American Legion tonight at the Community Service Club on Dutton street, Congressman John Jacob Rogers will deliver an address in which he will explain his reasons for voting in the house of representatives to postpone consideration of soldiers' bonus legislation until after the close of the presidential campaign. The subject of his address will be "Veterans' Legislation, Past and Present." It is expected that members of the legion from all parts of Middlesex county will be present. The meeting will be open only to legion men, who must present their membership cards to secure admission.

Plans are being pushed forward for an outing and field day of the legion at Thompson's grove, Wilmington, July 31. Assurances have been obtained that Congressman Rogers and Gallivan will be in attendance. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge has expressed his regret at not being able to attend in a letter stating that he is now having his first vacation in 20 years. Senator Walsh has been invited and may attend.

OPERATES ON HUMAN BRAIN

Johns Hopkins Doctor Solves
the Most Baffling of Problems

Has Restored Speech of Dumb Man by Removal of Tumor

BY GEORGE B. WATERS,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 11.—Dr. Walter E. Dandy, young surgeon of Johns Hopkins hospital, has planted the flag of American achievement in the center of the human brain.

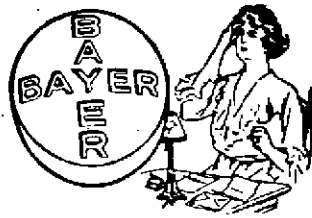

The brain, center of human activity and the most delicate and sensitive organ of the body, has presented science with the most baffling problems in the past. Ordinary brain operations have been made simple but to reach the very center of the mass, the third ventricle, without killing the patient, was impossible until Dr. Dandy, after three years' experiment on lower animals—monkeys—mostly—found the way.

What does it mean?

Removal of Cure
It means that epileptics can be cured and that many an insane man can be brought back from the asylum.

News of the Churches

St. Patrick's
Members of the Immaculate Conception sodality of St. Patrick's church received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass yesterday. Rev. Joseph A. Curran was the celebrant. The other masses were largely attended.

Sacred Heart
At the 7:30 o'clock mass at the Sacred Heart church yesterday members of the Holy Name society received communion in a body. Rev. J. M. McRory, O.M.I., was the celebrant, and Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., the pastor, assisted in giving communion. After the mass, breakfast was served in the school hall and an informal program of speaking and entertainment carried out. Arrangements have been completed for the annual parish lawn party to be held next Saturday on the school grounds.

Immaculate Conception
Rev. William W. Noonan, O.M.I., celebrated the late mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday, and Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O.M.I., the pastor, made the announcements. At the 8 o'clock mass members of the Y.M.C.A. received communion in a body and later enjoyed a communion break.

It means that paralytics can be given the use of their bodies.

These are often the cause of brain tumors or "spits." Dr. Dandy lays open the way for their removal or cure.

He has successfully operated upon the brains of men and recently removed a tumor from the third ventricle which restored the speech of a dumb man.

The operation is made in three stages, so that the patient will not be killed by the sudden shock of laying bare the twists and turns of his "gray matter."

Skull Is Opened
First the skull must be opened. The bone is bored through with "trepanning" instruments and then the "water" in which the brain rests, is withdrawn to release the pressure that might damage the brain. It is a delicate job to tie or "ligate" the blood vessels to prevent hemorrhage, or undue bleeding.

The second stage finds the surgeon's knife through the "corpus callosum" or "large body" which connects the two parts of the brain. That in itself is a difficult task.

The third and final operation is the exposing of the third ventricle and the removal of the obstructing tumor.

Holes Bored in Skull
The great obstacle to the operation in the past was the treatment of the brain, accustomed to rest in its fluid, when that fluid was withdrawn. The slightest damage resulted in paralysis or death of the patient.

Dr. Dandy solved the problem by fast in the institute hall in Stackpole street.

St. Peter's
Members of the Holy Name society received communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass at St. Peter's church yesterday. The pastor, Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph.D., was the celebrant, and Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan assisted in giving communion. Rev. Peter T. Linehan celebrated the late mass.

St. Michael's
Rev. John J. Shaw, the pastor, celebrated the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church yesterday at which members of the Holy Name society received communion in a body. Rev. Fr. Finn assisted in giving communion. Rev. James F. Lynch celebrated the late mass.

St. Margaret's
The usual schedule of services was carried out at St. Margaret's church yesterday with the summer program in effect.

St. Columba's
Large numbers of the faithful received communion at the early masses at St. Columba's church yesterday, celebrated by Rev. Patrick J. Hall, the pastor.

boring one or more holes in the base of the skull through which purified air is pumped into the brain channels.

TODAY IN HISTORY SLIGHTLY JAZZED

Add a century to 1920 and you have the birthday today of Gaius Julius Caesar, the first war correspondent, born July 12, 100 B.C. He was not the first man to go to war and to come home to write about it, but he has caused more trouble for schoolboys than any other ancient or modern military expert. What a time Caesar could have had in the great war as he filed his stories about battles in which more men were killed than he ever saw together in his whole life.

However, Caesar was a great soldier, too, which is more than can be said about the thousands who have taken and are taking the late rumpus in Flanders and Picardy as their text. Caesar was all right until he quit the army for politics. From then on his career and that of the late Senator Carranza were virtually identical.

HOW TO ADD STRENGTH, BE HEALTHY

More Happiness and a Longer Life Through Use of Bitro-Phosphate Health System

NEW YORK. Say unto yourself that from this very day you will steadily and permanently improve your health; that you will have calm nerves and a "no worry" disposition. Begin now to use Bitro-Phosphate. Easy to assimilate, has a valuable therapeutic action upon the whole body, including the bones, and with health aids supplied in the package, the benefit is often reputed as next to miraculous.

Improve your blood, your tissues, your organs, become stronger, let natural energy of the true kind replace your weakness and lack of either will power or muscular capability.

Take a back at no longer. Don't be a back number. Awaken right now to the grand possibilities; and realize that you can show greater strength, be happier and live longer if you only adopt the simple, true method. Take a brief treatment of the delightfully efficient Bitro-Phosphate health system. Let the scales, the tape measure, your improving appearance, your calm forcefulness and your accomplishment show themselves from day to day.

In cases where persons were "all run down" they have reported considerable weight increase. In cases of nervousness, great irritability, inability to concentrate or to remember, and in numerous other troubles of the nerve or mind, where the phosphoric element was essential, the Bitro-Phosphate treatment has accomplished marvelous benefit, according to the reports of enthusiastically cheerful users.

Bitro-Phosphate is not a patent medicine. It is sold under a $3.00 guarantee. It is recommended by able physicians. You may obtain a booklet giving further information by writing to Arrow Chemical Co., 31 Union St., New York, N. Y. Beware of inferior phosphates, insist upon the genuine BITRO-PHOSPHATE. It is sold by A. W. Dows and all busy druggists everywhere.—Adv.

AGRICULTURE AND HOME ECONOMICS—HOT WEATHER

Hot, rather dry weather has been with us for a few days. One of the first results to be seen from this type of weather in home gardens is the tendency for gardeners to go to using the water hose. Keeping the surface soil loosened up in good shape does more good than half an hour's sprinkling with the hose. If one's garden really needs water, soak it thoroughly as suggested in a previous story. The whole garden should be given a thorough cultivation at least once a week, better twice a week during this time of the year. One need not cultivate deeply but just enough to keep an inch or two of the surface soil loosened up. Such a practice conserves soil moisture and is the best method known of improving seed growth.

Destroy Pests

All growers are reporting an unusual amount of damage from plant lice. It is during the hot weather that they increase most rapidly. Some gardeners report that practically every kind of vegetable in the garden is infested. As soon as the aphids put in their appearance, they should be sprayed. A good, hard, soaking rain probably will kill a big percentage of the lice. On the other hand if they go without this type of natural killing, aphids will have opportunity of doing a tremendous lot of damage. One cannot depend upon the weather, therefore must spray using "Black Leaf 40" and soap.

Squash bugs and cucumber beetles have made their appearance in tremendous numbers. Strong arsenate of lead spray is as good a spray for these pests as we know of. Squash bugs may best be controlled by trapping. A piece of shingle should be placed on the ground near the roots of the plants and the squash beetles will hide beneath the shingle at night and may be collected in the morning. Some gardeners use one or two moth balls in each hill.

Potatoes should be sprayed every ten days or two weeks with a bordeaux-arsenate of lead combination spray. It is also desirable to make the bordeaux at home. If one uses the prepared mixtures they should be used two to three times as strong as the manufacturers recommend.

Rose Bugs Bad

The majority of the telephone calls to the county horticulturalist are upon the method of control of rose bugs or rose chafers. They seem to be unusually troublesome in many parts of Middlesex county this year. A lot of experimental work has been done looking toward an easy method of control, but nothing has been found to be entirely satisfactory. Self-bolled lime sulphur seems to be as effective as anything now known. This is made at the rate of 1 pound flour sulphur, one pound caustic lime to six gallons of water, or any proportion of this formula. The caustic lime is placed in a receptacle, sufficient lukewarm water added to start it slaking violently. As soon as it starts slaking the sulphur is added. The slaking process should continue until slaking stops. If at any time a cherry colored or mahogany colored

Heat Saps Power; Store up Energy

Keep digestion perfect with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and you will have strength to work

SUMMER is the season of vacations, of slowing up in work. And there is a good reason for it. Heat is sapping and work quickly tires. But people must work, and we should all keep ourselves in such fine physical condition that we can do our share even in hot weather.

Of first importance is to me that there is a regular, daily bowel elimination. If you skip a day you are constipated. Constipation, especially in summer, is quickly followed by fatigue, loss of appetite, chills and colds. There is no energy for work.

When you feel constipated and out of sorts, more tired than you know the circumstances warrant, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This delightful laxative-herb is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin and can be bought at any drug store.

Syrup Pepsin will quickly relieve your constipation and give you a feeling of lightness and clear headiness.

FREE Millions of people of all ages suffer from occasional or chronic constipation. Let them send name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 512 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., for a free sample bottle of his wonderful Syrup Pepsin. 8 million bottles were bought at drug stores last year, the largest sale in the world.

Mr. Walter of 441 Minnie St., San Francisco, had to quit work because of constipation, colds and a brain of other ills. He took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and promptly recovered his health and strength and is now at work again.

You will make no mistake getting yourself a bottle of Syrup Pepsin and taking a little at the first sign of constipation.

Liquid appears, cold water should be added to stop the slaking. As soon as the slaking is over, sufficient water is added to bring the total mixture up to six gallons. The mixture is now ready to apply to rose bushes, grape vines or any vegetable or fruit that the rose bug is troublesome on.

DARING PLUNGE FATAL Summertime Is Playtime for the Lowell Kiddies and Here Are Some of the Ways in Which the Youngsters Are Enjoying Life

Charles Stephens Loses Life in Ride Over Niagara Falls in Barrel

NIAGARA FALLS, July 11.—Charles Stephens of Bristol, Eng., lost his life yesterday morning by going over the Horseshoe or Canadian falls of Niagara, in a barrel, in an effort to emulate the previously successful feat of Anne Edson Taylor and "Bobby" Leach.

Stephens reached the Canadian side of the river a few days ago and began to study the falls and river locality with a view of determining the possibilities of making a successful trip. He viewed the river above and below the falls, and to many expressed the view that the barrel he had brought along with him would carry him safely through the upper rapids and over the big dip of the Horseshoe.

Yesterday morning about 8 o'clock he and his party gathered on the Canadian side of the upper river about midway up the shore opposite Navy Island. He crept into the barrel, which was equipped with apparatus to give him an air supply for about eight hours. The harness was put over his head and he took the mouthpiece in his mouth before friends bade him farewell.

He was confident, and he showed little or no fear. Others had made the trip, why not he?

The motor launch towed him and his barrel to midstream and then down stream as far as it was safe to go. There the final fastenings were made over the manhole, and a rap on the outside of the barrel was the signal that told Stephens he was adrift on the bosom of the Niagara, only a few hundred feet from the precipice over which only two had gone and lived to tell the tale.

Through the rapids and over the reefs the barrel plunged swiftly, rolling two or three times quite differently from the way the barrels did in which Mrs. Taylor and "Bobby" Leach made their voyages. To those who understood the river and had witnessed other trips, these facts were significant and there were those by the side of the river who felt Stephens was going to eternity by the water route.

Down, down, down, the swift current carried the barrel, people on shore stood transfixed at the sight of the strange craft with its human freight.

Twenty-six minutes elapsed and the barrel passed through the rapids, and floated through the more quiet water to the Horseshoe. A second more and it dropped out of sight and then the scene of the tragedy was transferred from the upper to the lower river.

Anxious friends on shore, on both banks, watched for the barrel to emerge from the foot of the falls, as had the Taylor and Leach barrels years ago. They looked and watched in vain.

The tumultuous currents of the boiling water at the base of the waterfall delivered the barrel in pieces to the bottom of the lower river and later, boats further down the stream picked up some of these pieces and carried them ashore to be kept as souvenirs of Stephens' mistaken faith in his ability to conquer Niagara.

Friends on the river banks found it hard to believe and realize that Ste-

Lowell is fortunate that it is so near the ocean that many families with children can get away for the whole summer, a week or two, or even a single day for enjoying the pleasures of the seashore. And what joys there are where the surf rolls! How could there be more fun than to get into a bathing suit and trot down the smooth beach to the line where the waves curl up on the sand like flocks of little white rabbits? Look at the pictures above if you want to see what summertime happiness is really like. And don't forget that bathing facilities in the Merrimack river at the boulevard bath house are not to be sneezed at.

Look at the picture on the left and then at the one above if you wish to get an idea of what the playgrounds of Lowell are doing for the city's children. Children must play and if no other place is provided it will be in the streets where there are many dangers from passing autos. How much better a good time in the playgrounds with the teeter boards of which the city has provided a number than making mud pies in the gutter with autos close by.

phens had failed in his effort, and they searched until darkness to find some trace of the man who had journeyed across the Atlantic to die in the torrent of Niagara.

River men were patrolling the Niagara gorge below the falls today in the hope of recovering Stephens' body. Pieces of the barrel in which Stephens went to death continued to float ashore in the eddy on the Canadian side above the Maid of the Mist landing until nearly midnight, but Stephens' body failed to appear and experienced river men said it might be several days before it was released from the cross currents at the foot of the falls.

The staves of the barrel bobbed up through the spume one by one and were picked up as they floated toward the shore. The head, with its sealing device, was practically intact. It was impossible to tell which part of the cask gave way first under the force of the 135 foot drop and the pounding of the water, but Bobby Leach, whose experiences gave him opinion some weight, declared it was too light in all parts.

Lowell this year has seven playgrounds and 23 young women are teaching the children how to make use of them. Friends of the children think that that is a good beginning to make in the way of providing the youngsters with summer-time enjoyment and keeping them off the street, but they hope that it is only a beginning. They say that the city of Holyoke, for instance, is paying out $15,000 this year for supervised play and Lowell is spending only $3000. One big mill in Manchester, N. H., they point out, has equipment on its playgrounds representing an investment of $15,000. Similar equipment in Lowell represents an expenditure of $2500.

This week Miss Louise French, who is employed for the purpose by the Community service, will get her work well underway of systematizing play at the different centres. Miss French probably knows at least as much about play as any young woman now living. She gave up teaching physical culture in New York schools to supervise play in a number of big western cities. During the war she supervised recreation among munition workers in France. One of the things she is to introduce in Lowell is systematized folk dancing. Miss French is to stay in Lowell only a month, but in that time she hopes to have preparations well underway for a playground pageant in the fall. And it shouldn't be forgotten that there is no more loyal friend of the kiddies and their playgrounds than Supt. John W. Kernan of the park department.

The city has provided numerous swings at the playgrounds, and what boy—or girl for that matter—is not capable of getting a maximum of fun out of swinging like the youngster pictured above. Below are some unlucky children condemned to the regions of a not over clean backyard with discarded carts and tin cans. Here the openings for real enjoyment are few and there is always the possibility that wounds may be received from rusty nails that may develop into blood poisoning.

Lowell has a tree for all merry-go-round like to one pictured above, but it also has hoodlums who have put it out of commission so often nights after the children were through using it that its use has been discontinued. At the right is a picture of what ought not to be—children playing beside a garbage can. There will continue to be youngsters who will have to get their summer enjoyment in places like this until the city provides more public playing places.

BIG INCREASE IN

More Lowell men will be eligible to vote next fall than at any time previous in the history of the city, judging from the number of poll assessments made this year by the board of assessors.

Although the precise number of assessors for 1920 will not be known until the end of the year, at the present time the figure stands at 22,032, including those who have been exempted from payment owing to military service and for various other causes stipulated by law. This is an increase of nearly 2000 over the total number of poll assessments made in 1919. Compared with 10 years ago it is an increase of nearly 5000.

Below is a list of the number of poll assessments levied each year for the past 10 years:

AND LADIES' DAY

Members of the local council of the Knights of Columbus are discussing plans for an outing and ladies' day at the Genoa club grounds in Nashua. The summer outing is an annual feature of K. of C. circles and last year took the form of a reception to service men of the council. It is hoped this year to combine the annual ladies' day and outing into one affair. No definite decision has yet been reached, but the matter will undoubtedly be determined at the next meeting of the organization.

Many wild rumors were afloat in Belfast this morning, one being that a trainload of Sinn Féiners was coming from Cork to attack the city. Investigation proved this, as well as many other reports of trouble, untrue.

AMERICANS MIXED
UP IN SHOOTING

LONDON, July 12.—The attack on the party of police in which Sergt. Mooney was wounded while returning from the postoffice to the barracks at Dungloe, is attributed to an unpleasant experience of three American citizens, Michael, Eugene and Neil O'Donnell of New York, brothers, who are now visiting Donegal.

The O'Donnells attended a fair at Dungloe a few days ago and while returning to the home of friends the same night met a party of police on the road some miles from Dungloe. In passing, a policeman coughed, and Michael O'Donnell, in a jocular mood, also coughed.

The police resented this and one of them, alleged to have been Sergt. Mooney, struck Michael O'Donnell with a rifle, knocking him down and fracturing his jaw. Michael was carried unconscious by his brothers to a neighboring house, where it is declared he now lies in a critical condition.

The news of the assault created indignation at Dungloe, according to the report, and the following day Mooney was shot by a person stationed in an unoccupied house in Dungloe. Whether Mooney will recover from his wounds is considered doubtful.

MOVIES ON COMMON

Municipal moving pictures will be shown on the South common this evening under the auspices of the park department if the weather is favorable. Tomorrow evening the weekly exhibition will be given on the North common and Wednesday evening on the playground of the Lawrence Mfg. Co. at Alken street.

Reardon.

Everett Lougee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Lougee, of South Chelmsford, sprained the ligaments of his right leg while bathing in Hart pond Saturday evening. In attempting a dive his foot got caught and he hung suspended until released by his companions. He was treated at St. John's hospital.

Rev. Leon Lamotte, O.M.I., pastor of Notre Dame de Lourdes' church, left last evening on a two months' vacation to Montreal. During his absence, Rev. J. B. A. Barrette, O.M.I., will be acting pastor and he will be assisted by Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., and Rev. P. X. Marcotte, O.M.I., D.D., the latter of the Ottawa university.

About 300 children took part in the outing which was held on the grounds of the Lowell Driving club at Golden Cove, Chelmsford yesterday, for the members of the Lowell Hebrew Free school. The guests were entertained at luncheon and were also amused with games and athletic events. David Ziskind was in charge of the arrangements, assisted by an able committee.

The fifth annual outing of the employees of the finishing room of the Tremont & Suffolk mills took place Saturday under the direction of Irving Whitcomb. About 150 men and women took part in the excursion, going to Revere beach in two automobile trucks, and spent a most enjoyable day. Sports were carried out and a good shore dinner was enjoyed.

MATRIMONIAL

A double marriage took place yesterday afternoon at St. Marie's chapel, South Lowell, when Mr. Francis E. Torres of Barcelona, Spain, and now located at St. Claude, Minn., and Miss Alice Beatrice Gendreau and Mr. Auguste Rouleau, Jr., of Quincy and Miss Sarah Maria Gendreau, were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at 2:30 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Guillaume Quellet, O.M.I. The brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Gendreau, father of the brides, and Mr. Auguste Rouleau, Sr., of Quincy, father of one of the grooms. The brides were attired in georgette crepe and crepe de chine with veil caught up with lilies of the valley and carried shower bouquets of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the parents of the brides, where a wedding dinner was served. Later Mr. and Mrs. Torres left for St. Claude, Minn., where they will make their home, while Mr. and Mrs. Rouleau left for Montpelier and Quebec and upon their return they will make their home in Quincy.

federal constitution, to which we Vermonters are loyal subscribers, are in conflict with these laid down in the constitution of Vermont. The federal constitution provides that proposals for change therein shall, if favorable action is taken thereon on the Congress, be submitted to the legislatures of the several states for their action.

and the supreme court of the United States has in a recent decision, Hawke vs. Smith, June 1, 1920, declared:

"The referendum provisions of state constitutions and statutes cannot be applied, consistently with the Constitution of the United States, in the ratification or rejection of amendments to it."

"This decision leaves the people at the mercy of any group of men who may lobby a proposal for change in the federal constitution through congress and then through the legislatures of the states."

"In the face of this situation, I am asked to call the legislature of Vermont into extraordinary session, not for the purpose of debating, considering, deliberating on the question at issue, but with a majority of its members pledged beforehand and in private, as I understand it, to ratify the proposed amendment."

"If the people of Vermont, in according a place in the union of states, inadvertently lost in whole or in part the right of self-government and conferred it on a legislature there is all the more reason why a legislature should not pass upon a question which has arisen since their election and upon which their constituents have had no opportunity to express themselves."

"We must now either remodel our own constitution to conform with the mandate of the supreme court of the United States, or the Constitution of the United States must be amended to provide for a referendum to the free men of the several states before amendments to that constitution become effective. As it stands and is interpreted by the supreme court today, the federal constitution threatens the foundation of free popular government."

"The 17th amendment, providing for a federal income tax, was lobbied through congress and the state legislatures by federal agents. The 15th amendment, for federal prohibition was forced through congress and the state legislatures by a powerful and irresponsible organization, operating through paid agents with unlimited funds. It is now proposed to force through the 19th amendment, for woman suffrage, in the same manner and also without the sanction of the free men."

TO BUILD BUNGALOW IN ANDOVER STREET

James H. Walker has been issued a permit at the office of the building inspector at city hall to erect a bungalow in Andover street, corner of Gar-

Other permits recently issued include one to Sarah Gilman for the alteration of a two-family dwelling at 73 Coburn street into a three-tenement building and another to John A. Hutchinson for a one-family dwelling at 547 Beacon street at an estimated cost of $3500.

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

A news report says that 33 languages are spoken in New York. Humph, that nothing—come to Lowell if you want to hear real cosmopolitanism.

The silk-stocking class appears to have lost its exclusiveness—about everybody belongs to it in these piping times of high prices and prosperity.

Oh, if we could only put some of this warm July weather away on the shelf in jars to be opened when the coal bins are beginning to run low next winter.

South Lowellites needn't think that they acquire any title to uniqueness by complaining about the car service that they have to put up with.

Fate provided Governor Cox with one advantage over his rival when it gave him a name that political rhymsters can readily weave into campaign songs. Harding is a hard one for even the most enthusiastic republican poet to tackle.

We cannot blame the republicans overmuch for making strenuous efforts to attract public attention away from their platform. Trying to create a campaign bogey of Wilsonism does not offer much promise of success.

It is not out of place to remind a few members of the American Legion that there were men exempted from service by the draft boards who remained at home and performed their duties as patriotic citizens as fully and effectively as though they had gone to the front.

Would it be possible to arouse enough enthusiasm over Cox and Roosevelt or Harding and Coolidge to induce men to place oilcloth capes over their shoulders and march about the streets with dripping kerosene torches in their hands as was once the common practice?

When it is possible to buy a horse, use him for ten years, and then sell him for more than he originally cost—as happened in the case of the Harvard Brewing company—the dawn of the horseless age does not appear to be within measurable distance in the future.

It is to be hoped that all of the members of the Lowell charter commission will heed the admonition of Chairman James B. Casey that their work shall be performed with "impartiality and fairness and, above all, without fear of offending or displeasing any particular individual or department."

The members of the national association of steel and copper plate engravers are blaming prohibition for a falling off in their business. That's right, if anything unpleasant happens from measles in the nursery to pip in the chicken coop, blame it on the ever handy goat—prohibition.

The members of the Lowell charter commission are likely to find out that there are almost as many people who are sure they know all that is worth knowing about running a city government as there are persons who feel competent to give editors advice about the proper way of getting out newspapers.

CHANGE THE RULE

Some weeks ago, it was proposed that the school board should abolish the rule requiring Normal school graduates to go out of town for experience in teaching before getting a permanent place in the local schools.

Since the war started, and particularly since the cost of living reached such enormous figures, this rule has been a great hardship to young teachers. In many cases, it was almost impossible to find proper boarding places except at an inconvenient distance or where the prices were almost prohibitive.

There is no reason why the young teachers should not be employed here in town to be under the supervision of trained teachers, rather than be compelled to go into the ungraded country schools to work under the most unfavorable conditions.

At the present time when teachers are scarce, there are added reasons for abandoning this practice which never served any good purpose.

CLEANER POLITICS

Sometimes we get into the mood of thinking that about everything in the world is bound for the how-ows with headlong speed, and that nothing is now quite so satisfactory or well done as it was in the good old days. When we get into this pessimistic frame of mind, it is well to pause for a moment and take a glimpse backward over the past.

Take politics for example. The word is often spoken with disdain and as being something that should not be talked about too much in polite society. We hear a lot about corruption in politics. Sometimes—as in the recent attempt of Wood, Lowden, et al., and their friends to buy the republican presidential nomination—we have concrete instances that there is a real basis for the charge that there is corruption in connection with the selection of candidates for public office and their election. We hear occasionally about the grafter in politics, and very likely we have now and always shall have, the grafter with us. He came into existence not a great while after Adam and Eve left the garden of Eden, and he has the sort of disposition that hangs on to the bitter end.

Our politics of today—with all of the black spots connected with them that need wiping out before we shall get the clean, efficient government for which some people are striving—are infinitely cleaner than were the politics of some years ago. We have no whiskey rings, with tentacles reaching into the very heart of government officialdom, as was the case in the days of Grant. We have none of the scandals that once disgraced the nation in connection with the existence of a great railroad lobby at Washington openly flaunting corruption.

We have cleaner political campaigns all round than we used to have. We would not today tolerate such gross charges of personal wrongdoing as were once hurled against Blaine and Cleveland. We have turned more to the consideration of measures than of personalities which is an indication that perhaps present days may be as good, or perhaps a little better, than those of the times gone by.

NO BOULEVARD DANCES

To open a dance hall on the boulevard, would be an invitation to young girls to a lonely place in which they would be exposed to the worst dangers without protection. At the present time, if we are to believe reports, the boulevard is the vade mecum of couples who want to get away from the restraints of the city, from the vigilance of the police and the liability to be "pulled in" for violations of the law. The very proposition is self-condemnatory. No licensing board should give the matter the slightest encouragement. Indeed the board that would license a dance hall upon the boulevard as proposed, would be adjudged guilty of an offense against the moral welfare of the city and wholly blind to the requirements of public safety, public decency and public morality.

Already there are complaints against some of the dance halls we have; and it would be well to see that they are properly ordered before authorizing the opening of more. And if any new halls were to be opened, they should not be on the boulevard, or along the river bank which is one of the most deserted places in the nothing district, a place surrounded by open fields where horsemen and riders might be manufactured or made up without the slightest liability to reaching the Lowell police.

Let the license commission put its veto on this proposition so that, and self-control. Why should any others of the kind will be brought forward. The location is wholly an arrangement such as we have unsuitable as it would lead to with Cuba? If it were improperly automobile accidents which would not, she could take it back in 21 perhaps be one of the least happy. The fact is, she wants out of the evil consequences of Ireland in perpetual bondage, having a dance hall opened in such a place, but judging from the demands of the labor bodies in England, the Irish question may yet prove England's undoing.

THE IRISH SITUATION

Lloyd George, the premier of England, in an interview with a delegation of Irish railroad men who objected to handling munition trains, made some statements that brand him as the prince of hypocrites. When he was elinking to political preferment, then a liberal of the Gladstone regime, he said he would resign from parliament if Ireland did not get home rule. For five years past he has been at the head of the government and instead of trying to give Ireland self-government, he has been trying to crush out the spirit of nationality among the people by open murder and a denial of the most elementary rights.

He tries to throw dust in the eyes of the outer world by saying that he will pursue the policy of Abraham Lincoln in fighting secession, implying that Ireland is a voluntary partner in the British union and wants to withdraw. So far as England has been able to make Ireland an integral part of the empire, she has done so, but never with Ireland's consent. Ireland has always held out against British rule and her demands have been over-ruled only by superior force.

Not being a party to the British union she cannot secede. The real partition or "secession" is that of the three Ulster counties dominated by Carsonism, the minority which Lloyd George says must not be coerced into union with the rest of Ireland. The object of George's Irish partition bill is to divide the people on religious lines and thus keep them from forming a union in favor of independence. For this purpose, Carson is but a government tool and this partition bill to establish minority control would be an insult to any intelligent people.

The claim that the Ulster minority would not be fairly treated in an Irish parliament is the sheerest poppycock invented as a pretext for violating the pledge to give Ireland self-government, of which the Redmond home rule bill stands as irrefutable evidence.

Protestants from the south and west of Ireland, both lay and clerical, come forward to testify against the barefaced groundlessness of this charge that the nationalist or Sinn Fein majority would ill-treat their Protestant fellow countrymen. The memory of Emmet, Grattan, Wolfe Tone, Lord Edward Fitzgerald, the Shearzes and other martyrs to the cause make that forever impossible. It was devotion to a union of creeds for a united Ireland that caused the orange and green to be blended in the flag of the Irish republic.

There is abundant testimony from Protestants, both lay and clerical, to prove that the government charge that the Ulster minority would have anything to fear in entering a parliamentary union with the majority.

Mr. George Russell in his article on the present home rule bill contributed to the New York "Freeman" and republished in the Dublin "Freeman's Journal" says:

"As for the moral consequences of this government of Ireland bill, if it is put into operation it will artificially divide Protestant and Catholic. Nothing could be more loathsome to the man of liberal mind than this reactionary attempt to make religion the basis of politics. I, as an Irish Protestant and an Ulsterman by birth, have lived in southern Ireland most of my life. I have worked in every county, and I have never found my religion made any barrier between myself and my Catholic countrymen, nor was my religion a bar to my work; and in that ill-fated Irish convention one southern Protestant unionist after another rose up to say they did not fear persecution from their nationalist and Catholic countrymen. The leader of the southern unionists made an eloquent appeal to throw their lot in with the rest of Ireland; he said: 'We who have lived among nationalists trust them; we ask you to trust them.'"

In face of such testimony, Lloyd George persists in representing that the armed Ulsterites, who are used as a sort of garrison, would be persecuted, despite the most sweeping guarantees of fair treatment.

The government policy in Ireland is responsible for the present condition of the country and in view of all the outrages committed by police and military, it is surprising that the people have shown so much patience and self-control. Why should any others of the kind will be brought forward. The location is wholly an arrangement such as we have unsuitable as it would lead to with Cuba? If it were improperly automobile accidents which would not, she could take it back in 21 perhaps be one of the least happy. The fact is, she wants out of the evil consequences of Ireland in perpetual bondage, having a dance hall opened in such a place, but judging from the demands of the labor bodies in England, the Irish question may yet prove England's undoing.

SEEN AND HEARD

"The saddest thing that befalls a soul is when it loses faith in God and man."

A quantity of sugar has been found in a freight jam. And the railroads have a monopoly on jams.

Mixing the Drinks

She was a raw country girl and had gone to her new position in town. The mistress was explaining the art of laying the table and was showing her how to place the glasses.

"But, ma'am," said the girl, "you don't want all those glasses on at the same time, do you?"

"Certainly," replied the mistress. "Why not?"

Some Dog, We'll Say

"Once," said the man with the ginger beard, sadly, "I owned a little, woolly Scotch terrier that was one of the smartest animals you ever saw. Funny thing—one day my wife was readin' in the paper that woolly dogs wasn't goin' to be in fashion that summer and she says to me, in a jokin' sort of way:

"I suppose we will have to sell Dagobert—that was his name—and get a nice, fashionable, smooth-haired dog."

"All right," says I, still keepin' up the joke.

"Now, what do you suppose that there dog went and did?"

"Maybe he committed suicide," ventured the grocer. "I have heard of dogs havin' their feelings hurt so bad that they killed themselves."

"Not much, he didn't. Didn't I jest tell you he had a lot of sense? He jest sneaked half a dollar out of the box where we kept the small change to pay the milkman and the newspaper boy and went down to the barbers' shop and had his hair cut—that's what he did."

By O. B. Joyful

In size Ohio ranks 35th among the states. But you'd never believe it when you take a squint at the way Ohio corners everything worth garnering. With a republican candidate for president and a democratic candidate for president, Ohio only was restrained from grabbing both vice presidential niches by a little old clause in the constitution. Since Hayes showed how easily it was to climb into the White House after another guy's been elected, Ohioans have been kicking for that goal. Why, it's gotten so there are only two occupations in life for a self-respecting Ohioan. One is to run for president. The other is to win a big league pennant. The very day Ohio pulled the hog act, and grabbed another presidential nomination, the Cleveland team was leading the American League and the Cincinnati was firsting it in the National League. There's some talk of changing the League of Nations so the United States will have one vote and Ohio five. That'll even up the British collection of international ballots. Maybe they'll move the White House to Columbus. That'd save Ohioans considerable travel moving into and out of the White House. There are only two Ohioans on the supreme bench, but Cox and Harding have given their word that future vacancies will be plugged up with Ohio legal lights. You know Ohio's real name isn't Ohio. That's just as alias, as crooks express it. The real name is Ohionbio. The Troquois called it that. In 1765 a gang of easterners started the town of Losantiville. Then the Losantivillers changed the burg's name to Cincinnati and won the pennant. Comes Mose Cleveland and starts another town in the northern part of the state so the American League pennant can be awarded to Cleveland. But folks have you ever thought of the earthquake there'll be if that Ohio state would win both league pennants and then play off the world series just about the time the two Ohio presidential candidates are racing down the home stretch? Then a lot of them will begin speaking about the United States of America and Ohio!

Vacation

And now vacation time is here. When favored folks who rain look down on us less lucky ones who have to stay at home. They spend a fortnight or a month from all their worries free! Up-sizing at the mountain tops, Or by the sounding sea.

They have a most delightful time. Or so they say they do. And sometimes those they leave behind.

Get a vacation, too. For though the well-known poet says: "To stay at home is best," It's well conditions to go away And give our folks a rest.

SCHOOL PICNIC

The annual Sunday school picnic of the Gosham Street Primitive Methodist church was held Saturday afternoon at Milligan's grove under the direction of the pastor, Rev. N. W. Matthews and Richard C. Campbell, assistant superintendent of the school. The names of the committeemen were published previously.

A baseball game between teams captained by Carl Johnson and Ralph Eckert, was won by the former by the score of 14 to 11. N. W. Matthews, Jr., was umpire. The results in the races were as follows: Fat man's race, Sam Willis, Richard Potter; married men's race, J. Higinbottom, H. Tivy; boys' race, Alfred Clegg, Arthur Chapman; girls' race, Jeannie Cudworth, Olive Scott; baseball throw for women, Martha Howarth, Mrs. G. Byron; hop step and jump, Louis Daniels, Bert Nellis; broad jump, R. J. Eckert, Charles Nellis; girls' race, Marie Wingood, Mildred Nellis; three-legged race, Clegg and Daniels; Tivy and Nellis; race for ladies, Carrie Hedding, Margaret Howarth; boys' race, Northrup and Clegg; shot-put, R. Dukeshire, L. Dukeshire; special race, J. Fielding, S. Willis.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

A sight witnessed on Middlesex street yesterday was reminiscent of the old days of the horse car in Lowell. The body of an ancient trolley car had been loaded on a low truck and was being drawn along in the middle of the car tracks by four horses. It recalled vividly the days when the horse cars trundled down the same street. That seems a good while ago. The first electrically propelled cars were introduced in the south in the early eighties. The earliest trolley line in New England was opened for traffic in Woonsocket, R.I., about 1855. It was considered a great curiosity and people travelled for long distances to see it in operation. After the Woonsocket line had proved that it was a success the first line was opened in Boston. It ran from Brookline village through Boylston street, to Park square and returned by the same route. It was not a trolley line but was operated by current taken from an underground wire, contact with which was made by an arm extending out from the side of the cars and reaching into a slot outside of the track. The West End company, that owned the line, asserted that the underground system was not a success, and overhead power lines were installed. It has been surmised that this construction was adopted because it was cheaper, as the underground system is a success in New York city.

I understand that the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company has resumed through service between Lowell and Nashua in order to find out if traffic is heavy enough to warrant the permanent maintenance of service in the territory lying between Mountain Rock and the outskirts of Nashua. For some time this service has been discontinued owing to the lean patronage it was receiving but after persistent efforts on the part of Nashua people, the company agreed to give it another trial for a brief period. If the patronage warrants permanent service, it will be given; if not, it will again be discontinued. A few years ago there was a fairly heavy electric car traffic between the two cities, but evidently the popularity of the automobile has made serious inroads on the receipts of the railway company. However, it is up to people who wish the service between these two points to determine if so that it will be maintained permanently.

The aeroplanes were busy at Salisbury beach yesterday unabashed by the tragic occurrence of Saturday. The planes can operate on the beach only at low tide and during that time they carried perhaps 25 passengers, two planes operating from the water front near the Centre.

The comment on the fatal accident of Saturday showed much sympathy for Mrs. Richard H. Long, one of the victims. She had been taking aeroplane trips since last October and seemed to have as much courage in flying as the ordinary aviator. Both her legs were broken at the ankles and her skull was fractured. The aviator's neck was torn open and part of the steering gear entered his body. The machine, apart from the motor, was smashed to pieces, as if it were glass. It was supposed that the accident would have stopped the flying at Salisbury; but while it had a discouraging effect on some, there were still a considerable number ready to take the risk. Perhaps the fact that there is a possibility of danger makes aviation more attractive to some people, particularly those who are willing to take serious chances in quest of a thrill.

WIDOW OF NAPOLEON III DIES IN MADRID

MADRID, July 12.—The former Empress Eugenie of France died here yesterday. Death occurred shortly before 1 o'clock from acute intestinal inflammation.

The ex-empress passed away quietly in the presence only of her lady-in-waiting. Her nephew, the Duke of Alba, at whose residence she died, was in France, and the other members of the family were absent.

Full Imperial Honors

Empress Eugenie had long suffered from ophthalmia and had been operated on for cataract. Full imperial honors will be accorded her funeral.

Preparations are under way for the opening of Empress Eugenie's will. The only member of the family now in Madrid is a niece.

Eugenie Maria de Montijo, former empress of France, was born in Granada, Andalusia, Spain, May 5, 1826. She was the second daughter of Count Manuel Fernandez de Montijo, Duke of Peñaranda, and Maria Manuela Kirkpatrick or Closeburn, Dumfriesshire, Scotland. Her maternal grandfather was William Kirkpatrick, United States consul at Malaga, who was a native of Scotland, but a naturalized American.

The former empress was educated in France, Spain and England, and traveled extensively with her mother on the European continent. She met her husband, Emperor Napoleon III, first in 1851, and married him in Notre Dame cathedral, Paris, Jan. 30, 1853. Prince Napoleon, her only son, who was the prince imperial, was born March 16, 1856.

NO RELIEF WITH RENT LAWS IN EFFECT

NEW YORK, July 12.—The new state rent laws are ineffective and have not deterred profiteering landlords from continuing rent gouging assaults on thousands of tenants in New York city, according to Leo Kenneth Mayer, chief counsel for the mayor's committee on rent profiteering.

The landlords are adopting diverse methods to circumvent the new laws, Mr. Mayer declared and have been successful to a certain extent.

The three chief dodges employed by the landlords as outlined by Counsel Mayer are:

Notify tenants that their leases will not be renewed unless they are willing to pay exorbitant rentals. If they refuse to meet this increase the tenants are then ousted by due process of the law.

The first method, according to Mr. Mayer, is the most popular but is rather slow as it takes from one month to one year to legally evict a tenant.

The co-operative selling plan, he declared, was one of the new inventions of the landlords to exploit the tenant.

The transferring of property on the pretense of making a bona fide sale and thus increasing the valuation of the premises is one of the latest dodges, Mr. Mayer explained. By this method the landlord "sells" to a relative or business partner, then "buys" the property back again and thus runs up the valuation, which will command a higher rental under the state laws.

The entire legal staff of the rent committee has been placed at the disposal of tenants in their fight against the rent profiteer. Landlords who are inclined to be fair are meeting their tenants in the offices of the committee.

Police Suspect Foul Play

VINAL HAVEN, Me., July 12.—Timothy Smith, a farmer aged about 70, was found dead in bed today with a bullet wound in the breast. Failure to find a weapon led to a suspicion of foul play, and Medical Examiner G. L. Crockett and County Attorney H. L. Withee were summoned from Rockland. Smith lived alone near Pequod Quarry, a mile from the village. If the foul play theory is confirmed, robbery may have been the motive as he was known to have kept some money in his home.

Lawrence Mills Re-open

LAWRENCE, July 12.—The Uswoon mills of the United States Worsted Co., employing 1500 and Walworth Brothers Worsted mill, employing 300, were reopened today after a shutdown of two weeks.

Under which the combine will work and to prepare a joint platform.

The recommendations, if approved today as the leaders confidently expect, mean that the two conventions will preserve their separate identity and continue to function in separate sessions, with sub-committees reporting identical measures to each for discussion and action.

What reception the amalgamation proposal will receive from other liberal and radical groups now meeting here only time can show. The single tax party, also in national convention assembled, is divided, according to the expressions of various leaders, on the availability of Senator La Follette, as presidential nominee. One group of single taxers has announced that it will bolt the proposed combine rather than stand for La Follette, while another faction has declared it will accept any presidential nominee so long as a tax plank is incorporated in the platform.

If Senator La Follette wants the third party nomination, he can have it, both forty-eighters and laborites agree. He is already the overwhelming choice of the forty-eighters, a mail referendum has shown. While other candidates will be placed in nomination in the labor convention and probably in the forty-eight meeting too, the senator's friends say both groups are ready to nominate him.

Frank P. Walsh, Kansas City, Mo., called on the senator to ask if he will accept the nomination should it be tendered to him.

Conference committees appointed yesterday by the labor convention and Saturday by the forty-eighters smoothed out objections to amalgamation in a protracted session last night and adopted a series of recommendations today.

H. Ingersoll, manufacturer, and Henry Ford have been mentioned for the nomination, but there is no apparent concerted action to further the prospects of any one of them. Walsh is also being discussed for vice president.

Yesterday was given over to the opening session of the labor convention, with delegates from 60 trade union groups and other organizations represented. The forty-eighters and single taxers, whose convention opened Saturday, had recessed for the day and practically their entire membership attended the labor convention, many participating as active delegates.

Prominent among those assuming a dual delegate role was James Duncan, one of the leaders of the general strike in Seattle last year. Duncan on Saturday, was elected chairman of the Washington delegation to the convention of the committee of 45 and yesterday chosen vice chairman of the labor convention.

The radical groups who, according to Swinburne Hale, one of their leaders, were in the minority in the 45 convention Saturday, were in the ascendancy yesterday, and vigorously applauded when their leaders prayed for the day when the workers of America would follow the example set by the workers of Russia.

Every reference to Russia, and to Ireland too, was applauded with a will, and when John Fitzpatrick, the labor keynoter, praised the Russian revolution three cheers for soviet Russia were called and given.

JOE BROOKS TO BOX IN BUFFALO

Joe (Gardner) Brooks will leave in a few days for Buffalo, New York, where he will box at one of the big clubs there on August 11. He has been doing light training at Diamond Hill, R. I., since boxing Young Montreal here, and reports that he is in good condition.

ROSS RETAINS HIS SWIMMING CROWN

CHICAGO, July 12.—Norman Ross, titleholder in the 440-yard swim, successfully defended his title against a classy field in the best race of the second day's Western Olympic tryout in Lincoln Park lagoon yesterday. Ross won by 10 feet from W. W. Harris of the Hawaiian swimming team, and P. Kealoha, who was second in the 100-yard championship on Saturday, was third.

Ross had plenty in reserve all the time and when Harris threatened on the last stretch the A. C. star easily pulled away.

The Knights of St. Peter, a recently organized outfit, is ready to meet any 14 or 15-year-old team in the city. Their most recent victory was over the East Brooks, 12 to 3. Challenges should be sent through this paper.

The Gas Light West Ends defeated the fast South Lawrence A.A. in a recent contest, 5 to 4. The West Ends played faultless ball behind Mulno, who allowed but four scattered hits.

LEO P. FLYNN NOW POET

New York Boxing Manager Sends Poetic Appeal in Behalf of His "Stable"

Leo P. Flynn, the New York boxing promoter and manager, who has appeared in Lowell on many occasions, sends the following poetic propaganda, relative to his boxing "stable":

"My Fighters"

BY LEO P. FLYNN

Matchmaker, dear sir, give me a bit of your time

And I'll give you a list of my fighters

In rhyme:

They battle like h— and draw at the hair;

Look my list over and give us a date.

Bill Brennan, my heavyweight, they've dubbed him K.O.

For he's right from the old sod, the County Mayo.

He made Mike, Levinsky and Meehan

look slow.

It's now up to Dempsey to give us a

Kid Norfolk of Panama, the Black

Thunder Bolt,

He's speedy and clever, and, boys, he can jolt.

He's only five feet, he's been burnt by the sun.

He'll fight any heavy who weighs less than a ton.

Panama Joe Gans, colored middle weight champ,

Ask too notchers to box him, see how quickly they'll vamp.

He'll agree to box anyone, regardless of size.

From the welterweights up, the limit's

the skies.

Then the ex-A.A.U. champion, Eddie

O'Hare,

And his stout-hearted stable-mate,

Barney Adair.

Get them opponents, that are tough,

we don't care.

For both of them come from the plains of Kildare.

Tete Hartley, my lightweight, who beats them on the lugs,

His opponents will tell you, he's sure one tough mug.

If they swap punches with Tete, they must be insane.

For like Old Battling Nelson, he's a durable Dane.

Leo Johnson, the colored champ, boxes with ease.

The hardest of hitters, makes them

look like a cheese.

He beat Wellins, Dundee, Jackson and Cline.

For a return match with Leonard, should soon be in line.

Little Bud Dempsey, who always fights hard,

In the bantamweight division, is now quite a card.

Tearing Roy Moore, the fighting barn

from St. Paul.

Who boxes the clever ones, slugs and

New York Johnny Russell, who fights

all the time,

What he done to Patsy Wallace sure was a crime!

Frankie Burns, Frankie Britt, Benny

Valger, big guys, too,

When John stood them off, they thought they were through.

Bobby Hansen of Denmark put him on very soon.

With a Greek, or a Jew, or a Wop, or a Coon.

Wire night, noon or morning, New York, that's the state!

Drop a line, East Fourteenth street,

Number 328.

Man alive—listen!

You can smoke Camels till the cows come home without tiring your taste!

ALL you've got to do is to smoke Camels to know they are the most wonderful cigarette ever created. You'll like Camels even better when you compare them with any cigarette in the world!

You realize then that Camels never have been approached in quality, in their expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos, and in the enjoyment they provide!

You'll quickly decide that Camels blend is a revelation—and that you greatly prefer it to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

My, but you have a lot coming your way in Camels smooth mellow mild body and refreshing flavor! You'll say "Camels are made to meet my taste". And that's a fact! Besides they'll never tire it!

And another thing about Camels you'll find unusual—they never leave any unpleasant cigarettey aftertaste or unpleasant cigarettey odor!

GRAND CIRCUIT OFF TO BRILLIANT SUCCESS

The Grand Circuit was off to the most brilliant start in the history of the famous chain at Cleveland last Monday, the holiday attendance being the largest ever seen at a straight race meeting. More people have watched the harness stars perform, but these record crowds have been patrons of some big fair.

Itain came on Tuesday and again laid in the week, so that the program was crowded up and the track was not at its best after the opening day until Saturday. The result saved the winners' fast records, however.

Never is it wise to pass judgment on a horse on one performance at the start of the season, but on what they showed last week some of the highly regarded horses are going to have a tough road in making good. A few lived up to the nice things that have been said of them all spring, while some surprise stars flashed in the sky.

Red Lancelot and John Henry were two of the pacers that came clean, while Symbol S. Forest and Hal Mahony were two that failed.

Valentine's pupil was the outstanding silksheeter of the meeting. Getting away poorly one heat, he was separately timed the mile in 2:02, with the last half in 59 1/2. Gossip has it that Murphy offered $25,000 for him after the race.

The Nebraska pacer, Hal Mahone, that could not be bought last winter, raced well back in his start and some of the men who tried to get him feel pleased they failed.

Symbol S. Forest was a trifle lame after trying to catch Red Lancelot, a couple of heats. With the race over as far as the winning of it went, Murphy gave the Vermont horse an easy mile in the third heat and for no doing was fined $200. Probably the judges had no such thought in mind, but this fine has the flavor of a slap to the gallery.

Tommy Murphy, as expected, was more races than any other driver. The Foughkepsie reinsman's business is running races on the grand circuit and his success year after year is proof that he is a finished master of his trade. Nearly every horse he races he buys, not leaving the getting of useful horses to fate.

AUTO HITS BICYCLE

A boy named Traversy and residing in Dalton street had a narrow escape from serious injury late Saturday afternoon, when the bicycle he was riding was struck by an automobile at the junction of Hall and Cabot streets.
The boy jumped from the "wheel" just before the collision occurred. The automobile was operated by Armand Lavoie of 255 Fletcher street.

WELD LAMP PARTY

The lawn party given Saturday afternoon and evening on the lawn of the Father Mathew Total Abstinence society in Billerica under the auspices of the married women of St. Andrew's parish was a success in every way. The attendance was large and the sales tables reported a very thriving business.
The affair was in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. D. J. Dewire.

Norway, though "dry," permits the sale of light beer and very light wine.

K. OF C. OUTCLASSES
PITTS' SOUTH ENDS

Distinctly outclassing their opponents at practically every stage of the game, the Knights of Columbus easily defeated Pitts' South Ends in the second of their series of games for the semi-pro championship of the city at Spaulding park Saturday afternoon.
The score was 12 to 4.

With Eddie Cawley on the mound flinging them in at big league pace, the Knights kept the South End hits scattered and only in one inning—the second—did Manager Lyons' men show any dangerous propensities. Devlin was in the box for the South common boys and lasted only one and a third innings. When the Knights opened their jarring in the second, McCarthy was called in from the outfield and remained until the eighth when McMahon was transferred from second. Walter Foye, the K. of C. backstop, and Buckley, the South Ends' first baseman, starred at the bat. There was a fair-sized crowd on hand to enjoy the fun. The score:

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Alice Roberts Barton

Tingling, the fairy landlord, and Nancy and Nick, the twins, were watching to see what Mrs. Woodpecker would do to William, her husband, for pouncing so hard on the front door of their apartment in Maple-Tree Flat.

MRS. WOODPECKER LED WILLIAM BACK TO THE BEDROOM WHERE FOUR WHITE EGGS WERE HUDDLED TOGETHER.

Really it hadn't been William at all who was knocking, but Tingling himself, who was after the rent, only William was out of luck and happened to arrive at the very moment that his wife bounced off the eggs she was hatching, and jerked open the front door—mad as a hornet.

To her husband's astonishment and chagrin, she grabbed him by the feathers and hauled him inside.

"You good-for-nothing red head!" she screamed so loudly that all the neighbors heard, and poked their heads out of the windows. "Playing a joke on me just when the children are about ready to come out of their shells! You will hammer on the front door, will you?"

REPARATIONS PLAN

Berlin Government Submits Outline to Allied Premiers at Spa

SPA, Belgium, July 11.—Germany can fulfill future engagements only if they are based on her financial capacity, said a statement outlining the Berlin government's plan for reparations.

PUBLISH MY LETTER

Says Mrs. Ovenstein, So Other Suffering Women May Learn How to Get Well

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered for four years with pains in my sides, hips and legs and a terrible backache. I could not do any work at all. I was treated by many physicians but they did not help me. I read in one of your books where other women had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I tried it and it helped me very much so that now I can do everything in the house. I have told my friends about your wonderful Vegetable Compound and you have my permission to publish my letter so other women who suffer may learn how to get well."—Mrs. LYDIA E. OVENSTEIN, 902 S. Marshall Ave., Chicago, Ill.

This good old-fashioned remedy is made from native roots and herbs and contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

Women who suffer as Mrs. Ovenstein did should not hesitate to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, as the evidence that it constantly being published proves that it has relieved much suffering among women.

Verities. This would relate especially to the undertaking to pay the expenses of the armies of occupation, which are to be covered partly by money and partly in kind, which must, in principle, be credited according to universal market prices. Request was also made that the allies fix the maximum sum due for reparations, after payment of which Germany would be free from any obligations.

As the economic development of the next 30 years cannot be foretold, the statement asserted, a plan must be worked out by which the allied governments would participate in the improvement of financial and economic conditions in Germany. Experts from the allied nations and Germany should meet as soon as possible, the statement said, to fix the amounts of the annuities to be paid and to pass on the securities to be demanded. Germany's sovereignty in financial matters must not be infringed upon. In decisions regarding this feature of adjusting reparations payments these experts should also fix the maximum sum to be paid to the allies by Germany.

Material which Germany is to deliver to the allies under the peace treaty for reconstruction of devastated regions should be specified by the reparations commission, the statement declared, and its value should be credited to Germany.

Proposals were made that Germany create a dual organization of her entire industry and labor for the purpose of effecting these deliveries and that each allied and associated power create a two-fold organization for the examination and reception of deliveries, respectively.

All organizations concerned must be developed on a basis of absolute parity between employer and employee and special measures must be taken to prevent abuses. Examination of this plan, the statement said, should be entrusted to a commission of experts and Germany was ready to present immediately its list of members of such a body.

After declaring that Germany was ready, because of her concern as to future peace, to undertake to assist in the reconstruction of devastated regions, the statement made suggestions for the organization of a colonization scheme by which those who suffered from the war could start life anew. When the work of reconstruction of homes, rebuilding roads and restoring farms is completed, the plan would permit people formerly resident in the affected regions to return to their homes, or people from other parts of the war zone could move to new regions. This colonization scheme would be operated on business and not bureaucratic lines, and be run in such a way that undue profits could not be exacted from the people seeking homes.

If this plan should be accepted in principle, the statement said, a conference should be held to consider its practical execution. Such conference would be attended by representatives of those countries wishing to participate in the work. Delegates accredited to the populations of devastated areas and men would represent employers and employees engaged in the work.

THE STRONG RIGHT ARM OF THE LAW

CAMBRIDGE, July 12.—Never was the efficiency of the "long arm of the law" more finely shown than in the events of the last few weeks. Herman L. Barney, gun man and auto thief, serving a sentence of from 15 to 20 years in state's prison for the killing of Patrolman Delinger at Chelsea, in February, 1919, and who escaped from state's prison early on the morning of May 26, surrendered to District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts and Inspector Edward P. O'Halloran of the Newton police after 36 days of wandering about the country. As the coils of the law were tightening around him, Barney saw the hopelessness of his situation and surrendered.

On the afternoon of June 4, Walter E. Fagan, alias Flanagan and many other aliases, got away from the East Cambridge jail by swinging from the roof with a hand-made rope. District Attorney Tufts at once took up his trail and sent State Detective Michael J. Barrett, who is attached to the district attorney's office, on to New York. On Friday evening July 2, Fagan was arrested in his room in New York. He, too, is back in prison.

Last fall, a burglar named Kadra, with many aliases, was arrested in Cambridge after a chase through the streets. He jumped his bail in Cambridge and a month ago repeated the stunt in Fall River. He is now being held at Hartford, Conn., and the police of several states are after him. District Attorney Tufts holds an indictment against him and if possible, will bring him back to trial.

District Attorney Tufts recently received word from Tampa, Fla. that a wife deserter who fled to Florida from this state had been arrested and was being held there. Arrangements are being made to prosecute the man.

SQUADRON SEATTLE BOUND

HOVULULU, July 12.—The midshipmen's squadron of the Annapolis naval academy which arrived here recently on a training cruise, left for Seattle last night.

GREDDAG FOR AUTOMOBILES

A squeak from a bearing is a cry for help, and the help needed is lubrication. It is a cry you cannot afford to ignore. But "any old grease" will not do. Neither will one grade fill all requirements. A good cup grease, for instance, might be entirely unsuitable for hubs. A proper differential lubricant may be useless on universal joints. Let Coburn's store supply the proper grade of Greddag and your car will give you the maximum of service at the minimum of expense for operation and upkeep.

STEAMER SINKS; THREE OF CREW MISSING

NEW YORK, July 12.—The steamship Lake Frampton, owned by the United States shipping board, bound from Norfolk to New York, was sunk early today off Atlantic City, after it had collided with the steamship Comus, according to wireless messages reported to the naval communications office here. The Comus was also damaged and anchored until after daylight, but was expected to proceed to some port today. Three of the crew of the Lake Frampton are missing. The Lake Frampton, a vessel of 430 tons, was operated by the West India Steamship company.

TO STEM ADVANCE OF BOLSHEVIKI

LONDON, July 12.—Polish armies, struggling to stem the advance of Russian Bolsheviki on the southern front, have taken the offensive near Rovno, according to an official statement issued in Moscow and received here by wireless. Farther south, the soviet forces are continuing their drive successfully north of the Dniester river and have occupied Novaya Ushitzka, northeast of Kamenetz-Podolsk, the statement declared.

URUGUAY ON WAY TO PROHIBITION

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, July 10.—A bill was introduced today in the chamber of deputies providing for gradually prohibiting the manufacture, sale and importation of distilled liquors, wines, beer and cider, so that complete prohibition would be reached in eight years. No government indemnity for losses by the liquor interests through this legislation shall be given, it is stipulated.

Syrian garnets are the most esteemed of the varieties of these stones.

ITALIAN AND GREEK TROOPS IN BATTLE

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 10.—Greek and Italian troops have clashed at Nazilli, 25 miles northeast of Aidin, in the Italian zone. The Greeks claimed the right to enter the Italian zone. In pursuit of Turkish nationalists organizing attacks there against the Greeks, the Italians claimed that they were policing the district and declared that they were not willing to permit the Greeks to intervene.

The feeling is described as extremely bitter between the Italian and Greek officials. The Greeks, it is said, charge that the Italians are using all possible means to further the interests of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the nationalist leader.

DO NOT LIKE TERMS OF ALLIED NOTE

SPA, July 12.—The Polish delegation at the conference here is understood to be very much dissatisfied with the terms of the allied note to the Russian soviet government proposing an armistice between the Bolshevik and the Polish armies. They feel, however, that they will be obliged to accept it.

Sunday's despatches announced the sending of a proposal by the Allies to the Moscow government for an armistice with Poland on condition that the Poles retire within the natural Polish frontier. It was set forth that the armistice would be followed by a conference of representatives of all the countries on the Russian border, and that if the Bolsheviki attacked the Poles within these frontiers, the Allies would come to the aid of Poland.

SEAMEN THREATEN SEVERE REPRISALS

GENOA, July 12.—Delegates to the International Seamen's congress are threatening reprisals against countries whose votes defeated the convention establishing a 48-hour week. They propose organizing a vast campaign at the International Seamen's meeting which will convene at Amsterdam on August 5 in order to compel British ship owners, who form the bulk of the opposition, to capitulate. A merchant marine strike may be organized affecting all countries not adhering to the principle who would be forced to boycott those who insist upon opposing it.

Give Your Skin A Chance!

A fine and soft skin is the very foundation of beauty. Strong shafts of sun will ruin any skin. The soap you use must first of all be a gentle but thorough cleanser. It must beautifully relax the pores so that the impurities they collect can be easily dissolved and washed out. This exactly describes Palmer's SKIN-SUCCESS Soap. Its use will be a revelation to your skin and complexion. Ask your Dealer.

OPEN ALASKA IS PLEA OF GOVERNOR RIGGS

BY MAX STERN.
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Alaska shows a boom, if the plans embodied in the democratic platform to let down the bars to capital in that territory go through.

This is the hopeful prophecy of Governor Thomas Riggs, Jr., of Alaska, who, along with George B. Briggs, John W. Troy and other leading Alaska Democrats, succeeded in pledging the administration forces to modify the terms of the Pinchot conservation enactments.

"Alaska is America's treasure house, but it has had its doors locked by the policy of the extreme conservationists too long," said Gov. Riggs.

"The oil leasing bill has given us some relief and will encourage capital to develop the oil resources in Alaska. But we do not know how much oil is there. We know that the only one patented claim is producing oil superior to Pennsylvania oil, and giving a content of 60 per cent. gasoline as compared to 12 per cent. in California oils.

"There need be no paper shortage in the United States. We have enough pulp timber up there to supply the need for years. In southeastern Alaska there are 15 million acres of pulp forests. These have been kept from development by the terms of Pinchot laws.

"Unlimited coal resources lie undeveloped in Alaska. The navy department is mining the Matanuska field, and finds the product equal to West Virginia coal in quality. There is more coal in the territory of Alaska than in the United States.

"Alaska is third in the production of gold. California and Colorado only exceed her in gold production.

"Our fisheries are also suffering from inadequate and antiquated laws. Under bureau mismanagement and neglect our fisheries are fast becoming depleted. They are being fished during the spawning season, and there is no closed season is respected.

"In general we want enlightened regulation, but we want the hands of the radical conservationists kept off of Alaska. Otherwise we will remain as we are, a country of vast industrial and economic possibilities, but hampered and retarded by lack of developing capital.

"The present laws are too extreme for a new and undeveloped country, and Alaska will never prosper until they are modified.

BY HELEN RING ROBINSON
Colorado State Senator.
(Reporting International Suffrage Congress for N.E.A.)

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 12.—Of course, if your business interests force you to go to Europe this summer, you'll have to go.

Or, if the call comes to sail overseas

in order to do good (and you can manage it without doing a lot of harm) then go, by all means.

In every other case my advice to those about to sail for Europe is: Cancel your sailing.

Especially if you're a woman! Stay in America till the summer of 1921. Or, better, 1922.

But you say you "want to see the battlefields and trenches, while they still look like battlefields."

Don't worry. They will still be there, shell-torn, infernal, in 1922.

There is, however, a chance that the army of 1,000,000 blackmailers, more or less, through whose serried ranks you must now elbow your European way, may be somewhat diminished by 1922.

Some of them may die, for example.

Called Inspectors

Those blackmailers are officially called "inspectors" and things like that. Hangovers from the war, when they were employed as spy hunters and in other capacities, no European government feels strong enough to dismiss them. So places have been made for them to pillage travelers at national borders.

Suppose you have reached the French border, touching Switzerland. You are routed out of your car. The lower ranks of blackmailers seize your baggage.

If you don't know the custom of the country, and have more than the equivalent of a hundred American dollars about you—or a ten dollar gold piece—Heads! You are "detained." Or fined. And you never see your gold again.

All Kinds of Blackmail

You are herded again. It is the passport blackmailer this time. You may get by him without any passport at all if you "know the ropes" and have 50 francs handy.

Then a third herding, the turn of the luggage blackmailers. If you have generous fees in sight you escape with easy chalk marks. Otherwise your luggage will have no secrets from inspectors or fellow travelers.

The story of the French barrier is repeated at most of the other European borders.

But even blackmailers may seem soothing after tussling with the subjeels of small change in Paris.

For there is no small change in Paris.

New Legal Tender

You go into a cafe for your afternoon cup of chocolate. Four francs are due you in change. The waiter hands you four little packets of postage stamps, each marked "one franc," and courteously accepts one package as his tip. But your taxi driver will have none of them. So you sadly offer him your last five-franc piece, knowing what will happen. He has no change. Not a sou! Not even a "metro" or underground railroad ticket. Non! Non!

I had just one happy taxi experience during my stay in Paris. Again I was short of change. The driver was, too. But she was a woman. She snifled at my postage stamps. She scorned my chamber of commerce money. In despair I offered her a fresh package of hairpins. She took them with gusto as full legal tender. These are only a few of the surface difficulties for American travelers in Europe today.

I could tell others—

—but you're bound to go overseas, anyway.

At least get a letter of credit for three times as much as you're planning. And take your nerve tonic along.

HEALTH ADVICE

Prepared by United States Public Health Service

There are at least two rooms in the house which call for special attention as regards cleanliness; these are the kitchen and the apartment where food-stuff is stored.

Many housewives believe that soap and water are not adequate to keep rooms in good sanitary condition, and are persuaded to substitute all sorts of disinfectants and deodorants. Such agents are not necessary for cleaning purposes, for filth and dirt should be removed and not treated. The most effective means of accomplishing this is by the free use of soap and water, which always secures the desired result if properly employed. A solution of one pound of washing soda in three gallons of hot water is also valuable for this purpose.

The woodwork in and about the kitchen and storeroom and the various receptacles for food and waste products should be frequently and thoroughly scrubbed and cleaned to prevent the accumulation of decomposing organic matter which is responsible for the unpleasant odor so frequently noticed in these places.

offensive even after all the contents are removed.

Boiling water may be depended upon to destroy all germs. The various table utensils may be freed from contamination by this means, provided they are placed in water and constantly boiled for at least five minutes. It is also important that the cellar should be kept carefully cleaned and the walls and floors properly cemented. If the latter are not impermeable, offensive fluids and gases may enter from the surrounding soil and contaminate food stuff, particularly milk. An occasional coat of whitewash provides a simple means of keeping a well constructed cellar free from unpleasant odors.

Closed Wednesday

Contrary to our usual custom, we will be open all day Wednesday this week. Thursday we close at 10 a. m. after dragging out.

COOLMOR WIND-SAFE SELF-HANGING PORCH SHADES

When the weather is stifling hot, you can sleep comfortably on a porch if it is protected with COOLMOR Wind-Safe Self-Hanging Porch Shades. Outsiders cannot see you through COOLMOR Shades, but the air circulates through them, while all drafts are avoided.

Their rich and harmonious color combinations add greatly to the appearance of even the finest homes.

It doesn't cost very much to turn an ordinary day porch—even one exposed and close to the street—into a sleeping porch at night, that will permit you to enjoy sound sleep, which would be impossible indoors. When morning comes, your night porch is a day porch again in two minutes without any work at all.

Let us show you the COOLMOR Self-Hanging features with paper pattern, which enable you unaided to hang a shade in five minutes.

Quaint Old Resting and Recreation Place Where Girls Spend Happy Hours

GIRLS' COMMUNITY CLUB CAMP

Old Marshall Inn, known as the Girls' Community club camp, situated beyond Billerica Center in Riverhurst on the Concord river, was rented early in the spring months from June to September. It got its name from a former owner who used to accommodate many vacationists during the summer. Its present owner, from whom the girls rented it, is Mr. Edward Fermoyle, formerly of Somerville, but now of Billerica. The camp is the center of activities for most of the community club members during the summer.

Ideally located near the river in a beautiful cove and surrounded by miles and miles of open fields dotted with woods, it provides wonderful opportunity for the activities of the girls' club. It is the headquarters for numerous parties who enjoy boating, swimming, hiking, tennis, volley ball, and other outdoor sports.

A proposition to maintain a camp came up at a meeting early this year and the girls decided to rent the Marshall Inn with the idea of paying all expenses by dues paid regularly into the club treasury. From its opening in June, the venture has been most successful under the amateur housekeepers and by careful management the cost of upkeep has been cut considerably. Miss Katherine Cronin has been in direct charge and she has been assisted recently by Miss Bawit Lawler.

Girls wishing to spend the week-end at camp register at the Community club and assist in the work and the duties while there, being divided into shifts by the director, Miss Cronin. All cooking is done by the girls themselves, some of the tit-bits from berries and fruits picked in the fields, and they have served many meals to large numbers of guests on Sundays and holidays.

Since the month of June fully 100 young women have spent some time at the camp either as members of a week-end party or visitors during the day. The average number of girls who stay at the camp overnight is 19, but this number is greatly increased during the day by friends who take in all the sports and eat there meals there.

The six rooms of the house have a comfortable capacity of 15, but many times the campers double up for other members of the club. Although the house is electrically lighted it has many quaint touches both inside and out. In an open fireplace there is an old-fashioned oven built in the stone of the chimney, which was used by former occupants, but which is used now as a kitchen closet. Water is supplied by a quaint old well. Outside there is ample space for Newcomb and volley ball and a tennis court. Not far from the camp is an excellent bathing beach where many of the girls learn how to swim under the instruction of Miss Cronin and Miss Lawler.

Although at present plans for the winter are not formulated, Miss Cronin expects that special arrangements can be made whereby the camp may be used as headquarters for skiing, coasting, sleighing, or snow-shoeing parties.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, desire to express our sincere thanks to those who by their acts of kindness and moral tributes served to lighten the burden of sorrow in the loss of our beloved wife and sister. Such evidence of true friendship we shall ever cherish in loving remembrance.

ONE GUESS: WHO IS THIS?

That's just what we thought you'd say—but it isn't President Wilson at all! A lot of the delegates to the democratic convention were very much startled when Ralph Faulkner, an actor, walked down the aisle in the convention hall. "For the love of Pete, has the president slipped one over and appeared in person?" And then it came out that Faulkner was just having a bit of fun. And the general impression was that Faulkner doesn't have to act to look like Woodrow.

Wood asked his employees to work with him in one great effort to do away with as much waste as possible, for then and only then can the cost of producing the cloth be made so small that the company can safely compete with the other 1500 concerns of the country.

The freight congestion, with its delays in the transportation of raw materials and finished product, is cited by President Wood as one of the conditions making the shutdown necessary.

MINE WORKERS ARGUE

Strive for Admission in Evidence of Seven of Their Exhibits

SCRANTON, Pa., July 12.—Representatives of the mine workers today renewed their argument before the anthracite coal commission for the admission in evidence of seven of their exhibits, which deal chiefly with alleged monopolistic control and profiteering in the hard coal industry, and to the admission of which the operators have objected.

In their argument the mine workers admitted that the power and authority of the commission extends only to such issues as are formally submitted to it by the operators and miners, but declared that it has an additional "implied jurisdiction, which is only limited by the public interest."

"Under this implied jurisdiction," the miners declared, "the commission may not be able to act directly, but it can, nevertheless exert its power indirectly by advice or recommendation to specific agencies having direct power or jurisdiction."

"This implied jurisdiction, even, of the commission arises from the peculiar circumstances under which the commission has been constituted. The commission is not an ordinary arbitral tion board, it is a public body charged with not only the duty of deciding certain issues as to wages and conditions of employment, but also with the development of all the facts bearing on the public interest. The commission therefore, has complete and unlimited authority to inquire into all matters in the present anthracite situation which bear upon the question of wages and prices. This unquestionably was the intention of the president in creating the commission, and it unquestionably is the expectation of the public that the commission will do so.

"Obviously the commission has no direct jurisdiction over profits and prices of coal companies or of rates and profits of transportation companies. There is one very important point in our evidence, however, which is directly in line with the specific jurisdiction of the commission. One of the 18 issues directly submitted to adjudication is the question of union recognition."

"You will recall in this connection that the United States Steel corporation has recently opposed any form of collective bargaining among their employees, and especially collective bargaining on the basis of union recognition. The predominant influence back of the steel corporation is the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co. This same banking house is the predominant influence in the anthracite coal monopoly. The mine workers feel that if the matter of union recognition had been left to the local managers and officials and independent operators with whom their representatives have come in contact in the anthracite field, the recognition of their union would have been an accomplished fact. They believe that their failure to secure formal recognition has been due to absentee landlordism and the sinister influence of these extreme reactionary and misguiding financial interests which are back of and really control the labor policies of the anthracite monopoly. They wish to submit this fact to the commission and also make it known to the public."
